OVER 1,000 PLANES HAMMER TOKYO

REICH TROOPS BEING TURNED INTO CIVILIANS

YANKS SEND THEIR PRISONERS BACK HOME TO WORK

BY DON WHITEHEAD
(Subbing for Kenneth L. Dixon)

Frankfurt on Main, Germany (AP)—The bulk of the once great Wehrmacht now held prisoner in the American zone of occupied Germany is to be demobilized and returned to civilian status before winter.

The army is filtering German manpower back into industry and agriculture after screening out SS troops, Nazis, war criminals and other suspects.

The primary task of disarmament—separating the soldier from his weapons—has been completed and now the principal job is to get members of this defeated army back to their homes to pick up peaceful pursuits.

Key Men First

Priority is given coal miners, agricultural and transportation workers and former employes of key industries which must be revived.

Second priority is given to women, third to men over 50 years of age and fourth to non-Germans forced to become part of the Wehrmacht.

Soon there will be a general discharge of prisoners without regard to those categories, but the discharge rate will be based on the ability of areas to absorb manpower and general labor needs.

"So far," a member of the U. S. group control council said, "these discharged soldiers have been very docile and easy to handle. There has been no trouble with them and no serious incident."

This is probably due to the careful methods employed. Since military government officials are in close touch with local situations they are able to determine whether more or less manpower is needed in any given area.

Brownshirts Split Up

No policy has been announced on whether discharged troops whose homes are in Russian, British or French zones are to be returned. This is a matter for the Allied control council in Berlin.

Nor has any decision been made on what to do with members of the foremost Nazi organizations such as Waffen SS, the Reich Labor Service composed of young Nazis who marched with picks and shovels instead of guns, Nazi party motor corps, Nazi party flying corps and the Todt organization.

Hitler Jugend and SA troops, the original Brown Shirts, are not being demobilized as military organizations, but each man is being treated individually.

Careful records have been kept of each man released. He fills out a personal documentation form giving vital statistics, peacetime occupation and military occupation. He must certify this record and have it certified by his commanding officer.

While this record system provides no spot check on the location of a discharged soldier, it shows in a general way which people should be in certain areas.

VETERAN DRAFTED

Atlanta, July 9 (AP) — Former First Lt. William K. Dobson, who was wounded twice in 14 months overseas service and then discharged, is back in the Army — drafted as a buck private.

Discharged in January, he married and got his old job back with the U. S. Forestry Service here. Then the greetings from the draft board. He's a private at Camp Blanding, Fla.

More Meat Coming; Black Markets Hit

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson today set in motion the plan to increase slaughtering by cleanly-operated local packinghouses and add their meat to the nation's general supply.

An agriculture department spokesman said the program should increase the civilian supply, aid in equitable distribution, and have "some effect in curbing the black market." He added that results must not be expected immediately but said they "would likely have a noticeable effect in the fall when the heavier slaughtering starts."

The program results from an amendment sponsored by Rep. Patman (D-Texas) which congress added to the bill extending price control for another year.

It provides for unlimited slaughter by non-federally inspected plants, if they are certified by the agriculture department as being operated in a sanitary manner. Their meat is to be made eligible to move in interstate commerce and to be bought by the government.

Anderson announced that regulations under which slaughterers will apply for certification are being prepared and will be ready in a few days. He stressed that the government must be satisfied on the following points:

1. That OPA price, rationing and other regulations are being and have been observed.
2. That the meat will move in legitimate trade channels within legal price ceilings.
3. That the plants meet sanitary standards which will be prescribed in the regulations.
4. That meat production will be conducted under the supervision of qualified veterinary inspectors.
5. That the plant will participate in providing meat for governmental agencies as may be required.

No specific date was announced when the program would be effective, but it was expected to begin soon.

Anderson's announcement followed issuance of a department of agriculture report which expressed the view that government price policies are partly responsible for the meat shortage.

SUN AND MOON PUT ON SHOW

Total Eclipse Visible In Idaho, Montana; Midwest Cloudy

(By The Associated Press)

A total eclipse of the sun gave astronomers and amateur watchers their best solar spectacle in 13 years yesterday (Mon) in a 25-mile wide path extending from Idaho through Montana and into Canada, Greenland, Norway, Sweden, Russia and Siberia.

Throughout most of the United States and much of the northern hemisphere a partial eclipse was visible, although clouds in many instances hampered the view.

The total eclipse—first in the area since 1932, and the last until 1954—began in Idaho at sunrise (7:59 a. m. EWT). As the moon crossed in front of the sun the shadow moved along.

Four groups of astronomers who watched the phenomenon at Pine river, Manitoba, said visibility was perfect and that they were well satisfied.

In Montana, at least 10 scientific parties took photographic records during the 25 to 29 seconds of total eclipse there.

Harvard scientists atop 11,318-foot Fremont Pass at Climax, Colo., were hampered by clouds. They were photographing the corona with a coronograph, the only one in the United States.

Poor visibility prevented good observation through most of the midwest.

British government scientists probed the atmosphere for 50 to 100 miles above the earth with radar, and the National Physical Laboratory sent scientists to North Scotland.

Chicago, July 9 (AP) — Eugene R. Stickles, 70 of (1022 Oak Street), Kalamazoo, Mich., identified from papers on his person, collapsed and died in a taxi enroute to Grand Central station here today.

PEACE TREATY STEERED PAST FIRST SHOALS

SENATE TOLD U. S. CAN QUIT PACT AT ANY TIME

Washington, July 9 (AP)— Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) steered the United Nations charter past its first major shoal in the senate foreign relations committee today by assuring the members that the U. S. could quit the organization at any time.

The committee engaged in a brisk exchange over the withdrawal provisions of the charter soon after the momentous hearings on ratification opened with a plea by Edward R. Stettinius for approval.

Senator Millikin (R-Colo) touched off the debate by contending that the security council set up by the treaty could, in effect, prevent a nation from quitting.

Subject To Discipline

Vandenberg, a signer of the charter, asserted that the U. S. is free to withdraw "at its own unrestricted option" with only the obligation of saying why.

The penalty, he said, would be "adverse public opinion" if the reasons did not satisfy the "conscience of the world." Then this nation would be in the same position as if it never had joined, subject to the organization's discipline "if we threaten the peace and security of the world."

The former secretary of state, designated as this country's chief delegate to the world security agency, presented the charter to the committee as a workable plan for achieving world peace and other high aims of mankind.

Stettinius told the commiftee:

"The purposes and principles of the charter are those in which the great majority of the human race believe.

Stettinius outlined the general program but left pinpoint detail to his technical advisers.

He said the charter is not perfect but he unhesitatingly called it "a truly effective instrument for lasting peace."

He said it is a system of "checks and balances" extending as far as the nations of the world are now ready to go. It will improve with experience, he declared.

Crowd Cheers

The big crowd, sprinkled with G. I's cheered Stettinius when he arrived and when he concluded.

Moreover, Senator Vandenberg commented:

"The secretary made a brilliant record at San Francisco and his work was in the finest American tradition. He deserves the grateful appreciation of his country."

The unusual senate interest in the hearings was demonstrated by attendance of 19 of the committee's 23 members. Another dozen Senators came as observers.

Stettinius in his 6,000 word outline described the machinery the treaty establishes—the security, council, the general assembly, the economic and social council, the court of justice, the trusteeship council and the secretariat.

Stettinius dwelt on the veto power possessed by each of the "Big Five" and contended it would not be abused. If any one of them ever "embarked on a course of aggression, a major war would result no matter what the membership and voting provisions of the security council might be," he emphasized.

The United Nations constitute "neither a federal union nor a world state," he testified, and thus the voting procedures can not be compared with a legislative body.

TRUMAN ON HIS WAY TO EUROPE

President Leaves U. S. A. Saturday For Big 3 Meeting In Berlin

Washington, July 9. (AP)—President Truman today was two days out of Newport News, Va., headed for Europe and the big three conference.

Mr. Truman left Saturday aboard ship. He was accompanied by a group of advisers including Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

He will meet Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill in the Potsdam area near Berlin for their discussion at an unstated date.

In London, a foreign office spokesman said it was "pretty likely" that Mr. Truman would visit that city after the big three meeting.

Dispatches from Berlin told of elaborate preparations for Mr. Truman to keep in touch with Washington. Signal experts of the U. E. army strung a network of cables and wires to the Potsdam area.

Coast Guard Sends Cadets To Train On Great Lakes Cutter

Buffalo, N. Y., July 9. (AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Mackinaw, queen of the world's icebreakers, left port today with 10 cadets from the Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn., marking the first time in the history of the Coast Guard that cadets will train on the Great Lakes.

Commander Edwin J. Roland of Sheboygan, Wis., said, "Although training cruises have been curtailed by war, the shift of part of the schooling to the Great Lakes is not a result of wartime restrictions in the Atlantic which has been declared open for vessel movement.

"In fact, while one group trains on the Lakes, the other will train in the Atlantic aboard the cutter Coob and a destroyer escort."

Munitions Blow Up Within Dunkerque

London, July 9 (AP)—The Paris radio said tonight that a big munitions dump exploded at Dunkerque this afternoon and that sporadic explosions were continuing.

(The French press agency, in a dispatch recorded by the FCC, said it was feared there were many victims. The ammunition depot was not far from the center of the town, the dispatch said.)

British Mop Up Irrawaddy River Valley In Burma

Calcutta, July 9 (AP) — British troops, stepping up assaults against pocketed Japanese forces in south-central Burma, have captured nine enemy-held villages in the Irrawaddy River valley northwest of Rangoon, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters said today.

Six villages were overrun by British 14th Army troops in an area 42 miles southeast of the river town of Prome, and three others were wrested from the Japanese 12 miles east of Letpadan, 73 miles northwest of the Burmese capital, a communique said.

FIRES CLOSE FOREST

Victoria, B. C., July 9 (AP)—The British Columbia Forest Service ordered the closing of the Vancouver forest district today because of five fires raging out of control on Vancouver Island.

Great Warships Strike Surprise Blow At Nippon

Guam, Tuesday, July 10. (AP)—More than 1,000 planes from the powerful U. S. Third fleet are at this moment striking Tokyo, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced this morning.

The great force, commanded by Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey, includes at least four fleet aircraft carriers, four battleships, four cruisers and 14 destroyers.

Units All Named

All these were named by Nimitz in a precedent-shattering communique.

Complete surprise was effected, Nimitz said, although the Japanese have been predicting just such a strike at some part of their home islands for days past.

The fast carrier force is commanded by Vice Adm. John S. McCain.

Nimitz' communique also departed from precedent in naming all flag officers participating.

Ships participating in the operation include the carriers Lexington, Essex, Independence and San Jacinto, the battleships Indiana, Massachusetts, South Dakota and Iowa, the cruisers Chicago, San Juan, Springfield and Atlanta.

Army On Job

The force also includes the destroyers DeHaven, Samuel N. Moore, John Rodgers, Schroeder, Cogswell, Herrman, Southerland, Ault, John W. Weeks, Colohan, Wedderburn, Rowe, Caperton and Frank Knox.

More than 1,000 naval aircraft are involved in the operation.

A substantial force of army Liberators and Mitchells and Thunderbolts of the tactical air force bombed Omura airfield on Kyushu July 5 and damaged anti-aircraft positions, barracks, shops and other installations, starting numerous fires.

RUSSIANS STILL RUNNING BERLIN

No Hunger Yet; Soviets Must Make Food And Fuel Available

Berlin, July 9 (AP) — Russian, American and British officers responsible for the government of Berlin arranged today to meet Wednesday to discuss problems affecting nearly 3,000,000 German civilian residents.

The Russians retained control of the entire city administration, however, and British and American sources insisted there could be no British and American military government here unless the Russians made food and fuel available for the western Allies' occupation zones.

Maj. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, military commander in the American sector, dismissed any idea that the tripartite government in Berlin would not work and stressed that only a short time had elapsed since the occupation began.

Parks, talking to correspondents, denied there was a food shortage in Berlin and said there was no actual hunger.

Liberators Batter Island Of Formosa

Manila, Tuesday, July 10 (AP)—More than 1000 Liberator heavy Mitchell medium bombers of the Fifth Air Force struck some of the strongest neutralizing blows of the war at the Japanese island of Formosa Saturday as bad weather interrupted the daily attacks on Kyushu by Okinawa-based Mustangs of the same force.

The northern Formosa airfields of Matsuyama and Takioku and the west coast field of Rokko were hit by the liberators and Mitchells, along with the industrial targets, gun positions, storage areas and railways. One Mitchell failed to return.

DEATH SHOT ACCIDENTAL

Los Angeles, Calif., July 9 (AP)—A coroner's jury today held that the death of Thomas Gibbons, 39 year old truck driver, fatally shot by Rita Powers Clements, 27 year old war worker, was accidental.

The woman told police she came here to marry Gibbons. Gibbons, she said, playfully bit her on the neck and in fun she threatened to shoot him. He gave her a gun and said "well, make it good," she said. Police told the coroner's jury the weapon had a hair trigger action.

DUMMY AIDS ESCAPE

Jackson, Mich., July 9 (AP)—Amos H. Everman, 34, of Detroit, a trusty at the state prison of Southern Michigan, walked away from the prison root farm last night after placing a dummy in his bed. Everman, sentenced last April 13, was serving a one to four year term for malicious destruction of property.

FBI KEPT BUSY

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Ten spies and 45 saboteurs were convicted in the United States during the past year, the busiest in FBI history, the justice department announced today.

NO AIR OPPOSITION

New York, July 9 (AP)—CBS Correspondent Gene Ryder, broadcasting from a batileship in Admiral Halsey's U. S. Third Fleet, said tonight that the American carrier plane attack on Tokyo was continuing through its sixth hour unabated.

Ryder said no enemy air opposition was being encountered. He described the target as 80 airfields in and around Tokyo.

BY AL DOPKING

Guam, Tuesday, July 10 (AP)—Nearly two thousand American warplanes, ranging from giant B-29s to naval carrier planes and Mustang fighters, piled destruction on the Japanese homeland today.

It was the greatest single day air assault of the Pacific war.

Virtually all land-based airforces in the western Pacific collaborated in preparing the way for a surprise 1,000 plane dawn raid on Tokyo by the fast carrier force of the powerful Third Fleet, which steamed close to the home island to launch an attack that is still in progress.

Up to 550 Superfortresses opened the attacks on the Nipponese homeland with 3,500 tons of fire

SOLDIERS GET FOREIGN DUTY

Returning Veterans To Take Place Of Army Men In States

Washington, July 9 (AP)—The Army ordered today that all personnel who have less than six months overseas service be given foreign assignments if they are qualified and can be replaced in their present tasks.

Returning veterans will step into their places as fast as the program can be carried out. The order called for their replacement by May 1, 1946.

The announcement said that while all physically qualified male military personnel are affected, "special emphasis" will be placed on those under 35.

Men not included in the order are special groups specifically exempted by the war department; enlisted men over 38 unless they request overseas assignment in writing; physically disqualified officers and enlisted men, and those covered by the policy exempting members of families from which two or more persons have been killed, prisoners or lost

QUITS COACHING — Carl A. Nordberg, athletic director at Saginaw High school the last six years, announced his regisnation Monday to become superintendent of the Mackinac Island state park properties.

Nordberg, who has spent eight summers on the island as harbor master and park attendant, will have a year-around position there. He succeeds Robert Doud.

A graduate of Michigan State college and former coach at Escanaba, Nordberg produced champions in football and indoor and outdoor track at Saginaw last year.

NEW WARPLANE PACKS WALLOP

Corsair Fighter - Bomber Proves Mettle Against Japanese

Washington, July 9 (AP)—A new and improved Corsair fighter-bomber, capable of terrific speed, climbing ability and offensive punch, is in action and has proved its mettle against the Japanese, the Navy revealed today.

The Navy's fastest aircraft, it can travel 425 miles an hour and more, carry 2,000 pounds of bombs or rockets if desired, and can climb nearly 1,000 feet a minute faster than its predecessors.

The first Japanese pilot to get a glimpse of the new plane never got home to tell about it. He was shot down in two minutes flat by Lt. Douglas M. West, Excelsior, Minn., U. S. Marine Corps, off the Japanese island of Amami O Shima.

The new plane, the Chance Vought F4U-4, has already left the assembly lines by the hundreds.

The F4U-4 is a composite, improved model of all the earlier Corsairs. Its four-bladed propeller, driven by a 2,100-horsepower Pratt Whitney Radial engine, measures 13 feet, two inches from tip to tip and literally "chews holes in the sky" in flight, the Navy said.

Aircraft Arsenal 'Setback' Admitted By Bombed Nippon

San Francisco, July 9. (AP)—Tokyo admitted today that Japan's aircraft production on the Kyushu home island "aircraft arsenal" had "suffered a temporary setback" under the pounding of American bombs.

The radio broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, quoted the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri Hochi reports from a Kyushu correspondent as saying that lagging aircraft production was an "undeniable fact, with the B-29 raids and subsequent factory demoralizations."

Man Found Guilty Of Starving Dogs

Detroit, July 9 (AP)— After he and his wife separated, witnesses testified, Thomas Schamante, 28, of Detroit, failed to feed his four collie dogs and they died of starvation.

Schamante, whose wife Margaret, 24, was found innocent, was ordered today by Judge Arthur E. Gordon to spend two years on probation and pay $100 costs for the crime.

WIDOWS LACK TIRES

Hamilton, Ont., July 9. (AP)—Advertisement on a rural post office bulletin board at nearby Mancester:

"Wanted—Widow with a car and four good tires, by a widower. Apply Box 6."

The appeal aroused plenty of curiosity—but so far, no takers. Said a post office employee:

"There are plenty of widows out here but no tires."

BOMBS RAINED ON JAP CITIES BY 550 B-29S

RAIDERS ON 3,960 MILE ROUND TRIP HIT 5 TOWNS

BY AL DOPKING

Guam, Tuesday, July 10 (AP) — A sky fleet of from 500 to 550 Superfortresses rained fire bombs on four Japanese cities today and rocked a fifth with high explosives on the longest mission of the war.

Thirty-five hundred tons of bombs were dumped on these cities of around 200,000 population on the main home island of Honshu:

Sendai, largest city of northeastern Japan 180 miles north of Tokyo.

Gifu, 18 miles north of Nagoya and one of the principal electric power producing areas of Japan.

Wakayama, industrial city of steel and chemical works south of Osaka.

Yokkaichi, oil refining center east of Osaka and the center of the largest Japanese plant still turning out aviation gasoline.

Sakai, industrial suburb of Osaka, Japan's second city.

Sendai, Gifu, Wakayama and Sakai were hit by incendiary bombs. It was the first fire raid for each.

New Fighters Used

Yokkaichi has been hit twice by incendiaries and today the Superforts worked it over with high explosives. They previously had burned out 1.23 miles of the city.

The raiders who took on Sendai made the longest mission of the war, a round trip of 3,960 miles from Marianas bases. The farthest north the big bombers previously had traveled was Koriyama, 110 miles north of the Japanese capital.

With Sendai, Gifu, Wakayama and Sakai added to the list, the total number of Japanese cities hit in 45 fire bomb raids reached 34.

The Japanese called on new, fast-climbing fighters capable of speeds in excess of 400 miles an hour in a vain attempt Sunday to stop Mustang raiders from Iwo Jima and lost 45 of their planes. Seven Mustangs were shot down.

(The Japanese have claimed that their new fighters would turn the tide of air battle and would check the devastating raids by Superfortresses.)

In all, Allied communiques covering week-end action listed 64 Japanese planes destroyed, 15 enemy vessels sunk and 25 probably sunk or damaged in raids ranging all the way from Honshu south-westward to the Malay peninsula.

Survivors Return From 'Shangri La'; Crash Killed 20

Hamilton Field, Calif., July 9 (AP)—Back from a primitive "Shangri La" into which they were plunged by a tragic plane crash, a pretty little WAC corporal and two army men flew in today from the South Pacific.

Only they, of 23 persons, survived as an army transport, on a sightseeing trip, crashed into a mountain side above an isolated valley in New Guinea.

"I always felt sure we'd get out all right," said Cpl. Margaret Hastings, 30, of Owego, N. Y. "I don't know why—I suppose I just had that much faith in the army."

LAND AUCTION WILL BE HELD

State Sale Is Scheduled At Munising For July 18

Auctions of 10,783 acres of state-owned land and 445 platted lots in nine upper peninsula counties are announced by the conservation department. The schedule:

Iron Mountain courthouse, July 10—1,123 acres and 74 platted lots in Dickinson county.

Crystal Falls courthouse, July 11—1,437 acres and 54 platted lots in Iron county.

Bessemer courthouse, July 12—266 acres and 25 platted lots in Gogebic county.

Ontonagon courthouse, July 13—1,246 acres and two platted lots in Ontonagon county.

Houghton courthouse, July 14—1,593 acres and 242 platted lots in Houghton and Keweenaw counties.

Marquette courthouse, July 17—2,977 acres and 22 platted lots in Marquette county.

Munising courthouse, July 18—558 acres in Alger county.

All sales will start at 10 a. m., central war time. Lists of properties to be offered may be obtained from county treasurers or the conservation department at Lansing.

Former owners of the tax reverted properties have 30 days in which to redeem them on payment of the amount of the high bid. The state reserves mineral rights and easement rights for public access to fishing waters across all frontage lands.

ORE SHIPPING IS DECREASED

Vessels Are Now Being Diverted To Grain Trade

Iron ore shipments from the Lake Superior district in June amounted to 10,621,309 gross tons, bringing total season shipments to July 1 to 29,024,586 gross tons, the M. A. Hanna Co. reports.

The monthly total was a decrease of 1,353,331 gross tons from June of 1044, while the season's total was 352,344 gross tons under a year ago.

The drop in shipments is the result of diversion of more vessel space to movements of grain, much of which is going to Europe, vessel men said.

Ore shipments by docks follow:

War Brings Prosperity To Matanuska Valley

By OLEN CLEMENTS
AP Newsfeatures

Matanuska Valley, Alaska—After 10 years in Matanuska Valley the long sub-Arctic summer days still mean long, hard hours for the farmers but they also mean money in the bank. The valley has gone from rags to riches. And the war has given its prosperity a healthy shot in the arm.

Another million-dallar crop is in the ground, and there is peace in the fertile valley between the Cheechakos (newcomers) and the old settlers. Yet for a while it looked like Matanuska Valley might fail as a 1935 resettlement project for midwesterners driven from their homes by the depression and drought.

Things picked up in 1939 for Matanuska, once a resounding political issue that threatened some embarrassment in Washington but grew up more or less quietly on its own.

It was May in 1935 when the first settlers came here—from Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan—with round trip tickets. The return was good the next year if they could not make a go of it.

The long days were just beginning at that time of year. Snow was melting from the Talkeetna and Chugach mountains, the forests were in leaf and things looked encouraging. But some newcomers complained. Their tent tops were made of white canvas and reflected so much light the occcupants could not sleep. Darker tops were substituted.

The men fished or hiked or loafed the first week or so. More settlers arriving crowded the tents. There were quarrels and a few fights.

Then the drawing of the land was held—40 acres to a family. There were trades as friends moved nearer to friends. Land was cleared. Five tractors chewed at the earth. Gardens were started. Houses were built. Matanuska Valley and the town of Matanuska came into being.

But not much was accomplished that year, or the next three. People moved away. Others moved in. Of the 967 persons who moved into the valley at first less than half of them remained by the end of the third year. Matanuska town was partly washed away by a spring flood, and nearby Palmer became the valley's chief settlement.

* * *

Matanuska, more or less forgotten by the States, hit its stride in 1940. Truck loads of garden vegetables and milk appeared in Anchorage and Fairbanks. L. C. Stock, manager of the valley co-op, reported in 1941 a total of $481,057 sales with the stockholders getting $7,799 as profits. The next year sales soared to $637,004 and earnings to $32,311. In 1942 the enthusiastic farmers approved the erection of a $30,000 dairy plant in Anchorage and thus assured themselves a ready market for their milk.

Fort Richardson (Anchorage) was completed late in 1940 and the soldiers bought everything in sight from Matanuska. Sales hit $1,017,426 in 1943 with the farmers making a profit of $91,276. In 1944 sales went to $1,235,016 but profits dropped to $61,580 because a 1,200 ton potato storage plant was built that year.

This year they are set for a killing.

Potatoes, lettuce and cabbages move to market by the carload. Eggs sell for $1.25 a dozen in Anchorage; milk, including the deposit on the bottle, is 45 cents a quart.

WILL FLY OVER NOTED VOLCANO

Army Helicopter To Be Used For Study At Paricutin

By CHRISTINA BUECHNER
Science Service Staff Writer

Mexico City —A U. S. Army Sikorsky helicopter will shortly hover over Paricutin volcano in order to discover for the joint Mexican-U. S. volcano commission secrets of this geological wonder that burst forth from a cornfield two and a half years ago.

In this scientific exploration the Army's Air Technical Service Command will study performance of the latest model R6A helicopter under conditions of high altitude, turbulence and temperature similar to those in the Pacific war theater which do not exist anywhere in the United States. While making the scientific flights, Capt. George D. Colchagoff and Flight Officer Roy P. Beer, with 200 hours of helicopter experience, will be investigating rescue, observation, supply and liaison uses of the helicopter.

The first helicopter to be used in scientific collaboration with any country has arrived dismantled in a C-47 Army transport so snugly packed that only one inch space remained. After landing tests at Guadalajara, the helicopter will be assembled there and flown to a base three miles from the volcano in full view of the cone.

Igor Sikorsky, designer of the helicopter, is arriving in Mexico City to participate in the double-barrelled helicopter volcanological observations. Geological work will be directed by Dr. L. C. Graton of Harvard and Dr. Ezequiel Ordonez, Mexican geologist, while Dr. O. H. Gish of the Carnegie Institution of Washington is here to study the electrical phenomena of the volcano which results in lightning-like discharges with accompanying thunder within the erupting material.

From the leisurely hovering helicopter the scientists expect to look down the throat of erupting Paricutin to discover what happens there, accomplishing in a half hour what ordinarily takes days.

Ten-Inning Battle Won By White Sox Over Cubs, 5 and 4

Chicago, Ill., July 9. (AP)—Before a capacity crowd of 47,144, the American league White Sox defeated their cross-town rivals and National league leaders, the Cubs, 5 to 4, in ten innings in the war fund game here tonight.

Outfielder Johnny Dickshot's sharp single to center with one out in the extra inning scored Wally Moses, with the winning run off big Paul Derringer, who went the route for the north siders. Earl Caldwell, who shut out the Cubs with one hit for five and two-thirds innings after the Cubs kayoed southpaw Ed Lopat to take a 4-3 lead in the fifth, was the winning pitcher.

Score by innings:

National Chicago	000 220 000 0—4 10 2
American Chicago	003 000 100 1—5 7 1

The National Audubon Society, dedicated to the protection of birds, has been sponsoring annual winter bird censuses for the last 30 years to determine the increase and decrease amongst all types of these birds. Thousands of bird enthusiasts throughout the country list all the birds they see at the time the census is being taken and the census is then combined and published in a special supplement of the Society's official Journal.

Soldier Eats Too Much, Army To Discharge Him

Atlanta, (AP)—Pfc. Chester J. "The Stomach" Salvatori, the army's eating wonder, consumes as much as ten men to gain the plaudits of onlookers, Col. Burgh S. Burnet, post surgeon at Fort McPherson, told a press conference.

He said the Southbridge, Mass., soldier, who has skipped through breakfasts of 40 eggs and all the trimmings with the greatest of ease, probably would be discharged from the service as soon as he is cured of his voracious eating habits.

"We hope he can be trained to get along on the outside without so much food," Colonel Burnet said.

A French horn player with a special service band, Salvatori was admitted to the Fort hospital about a month ago for observation after his eating prowess had left his GI buddies goggle-eyed on several occasions.

Colonel Burnet said Salvatori enjoyed the oh's and ah's of onlookers to such an extent that he had eventually developed the habit of eating vast quantities.

The cure being attempted? The audience has been removed and the hospital is gradually cutting down on his food. When admitted to the Fort hospital he was eating about 35,000 calories a day. It's now down to 7,000—about twice that of ordinary eaters.

Salvatori has eaten 36 pork chops at a sitting. He polished off six dozen doughnuts while lounging around the USO. Seventy-eight hot cakes were "The Stomach's" diet on another occasion.

Red Cross Needs Workers, Good Pay Is Offered Them

Hospital, recreational and social workers are needed by the Red Cross in increased numbers despite the defeat of Germany, G. Z. Flanders, Red Cross home service chairman, said in a talk at the meeting of service clubs yesterday.

"Red Cross workers are needed more than ever in Europe to bring cheer to tired and homesick soldiers awaiting demobilization and to help in untangling demoralizing personal and family problems," Mr. Flanders aid. "Meanwhile, as the fighting in the Pacific increases in intensity and as casualties mount, the Red Cross task there will become more complex. On the home front, the Red Cross faces new and challenging problems in providing skilled assistance to returning veterans, including hospitalized as well as able-bodied men."

Women ranging from 23 to 45 years of age are accepted for various duties on a full-time pay basis. Detailed information may be obtained from the Red Cross chapter office at 103 South Ninth street, Escanaba.

Clouds, Rain Mar Eclipse Locally

Monday's eclipse of the sun was not much of a show for Escanabans as the weather prevented a sight of the phenomenon until near its end. It was raining at sunrise and the sky was cloud covered.

However, there were a few breaks in the cloud cover that allowed a sight of the partially moon-covered sun and shortly after 7:30 the clouds moved away to allow a good view of the closing phases of the eclipse.

Yesterday afternoon, Henry Hathaway received word at the weather bureau that weather was very favorable for observations over much of the area where the eclipse was seen as a total one.

The barn dance, of American origin, came about because farmers who wished to build a new barn called in their neighbors for a "working" and finished the job by having a dance.

JOHN CONNELLY, ESCANABA, DIES

C&NW Rail Conductor Had Been Ill For Three Months

John Connelly, 65, well known Chicago and North Western railway conductor, died at his home, 308 South 14th street, 2:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon after a three months illness.

Mr. Connelly was born in St. James, Mich., June 19, 1880, and came to this city when a small boy. He started work on the ore docks on June 28, 1899, as a laborer, later advancing to clerk and foreman. On April 17, 1910, he became employed as a brakeman and was promoted to conductor on March 10, 1916. Mr. Connelly was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Besides his widow, he is survived by three sons, CM 1/c John and BM 1/c Donald Connelly of the U. S. Navy, who were serving in the Pacific and arrived home before he died; T/Sgt. Robert, with the Army Air Force in the Pacific; four sisters, Mrs. Jane Koppes, Mrs. Joseph Gaffney, Escanaba; Mrs. George Schmitz, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Walter Davidson, San Francisco; and a brother, Charles, Milwaukee; also three grandchildren.

The body will lie in state at the Degnan funeral home after 7 o'clock this evening. Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church 9 o'clock Thursday morning, with Rev. Fr. Norbert Freiburger officiating. Burial will be in St. Ann cemetery.

Made Carol Booklets

Perkins, Mich.—Students of the Perkins school made 30 Christmas Carol booklets for the use of men and women in the armed forces who will not be home for Christmas. The typewriting classes wrote the 10 popular Christmas carols and the index for each booklet and the art students of the fifth and sixth grade made the artistic covers. Mrs. Goymerac supervised the work sponsored by the Junior Red Cross.

Okinawa (AP)—Red-haired Monroe Fairchild, a navy pharmacist mate from Lufkin, Tex., as a child read about the old lady who lived in a shoe. But not until now did he really sympathize with her.

The six-foot sailor, a former medical student at the University of Texas, has 350 children to look after—inmates of the U. S. Military Government's Camp Koza orphanage.

He found that Okinawans as a rule are interested only in caring for their own children. So he had to draft six women to help feed, bathe and supervise play of the orphans, ranging from nine months to 14 years of age.

The parentless tots, many of them found by American troops of the Tenth Army abandoned in caves and holes during the fighting for the island, were sad specimens at first.

They were slimy with mud; cold, frightened and half starved. Now they are beginning to look human, something like normal children again.

Fairchild, who started his orphanage job two weeks ago, said he has noticed the improvement in the children in that time.

"I carry a bottle of vitamins for the worst cases," he added, "but I need more vitamins. I can't get them to eat American foods, like cheese; so I use the vitamins and milk to augment the native diet of rice, greens, sweet potatoes and tea. Most of them are gaining weight fast.

"We try hard to locate the parents and sometimes succeed. Seven of the children were mental cases abandoned by the parents."

The military government is working upon improvements for the orphanage. All of the children now sleep on the floor of a farm house near the refuge center.

Fairchild has one room for the seriously undernourished. Others are afflicted with skin and bone diseases.

All of these "sick ward" children appeared curious when I, a white woman, walked among them. Most were too weak to rise from the floor. None cried aloud but many whimpered, like lost puppies.

Some wore bandages over war wounds and several had horrible sores on their faces and bodies.

"If you think they look bad today," Fairchild remarked, "You should have been here two weeks ago, when I first got to them. The worst trouble now is running them down to give them baths in a big wood tub. An hour afterwards, they are all dirty again. And we have to haul in all the water."

Fairchild tried to get the older children interested in games. They were too war weary. Sharp noises or distant gunfire sent them cringing against walls.

The children love Fairchild already and follow him around, jabbering in Okinawan.

Obituary

T/CPL. ALICE V. HILLEWAERT

Impressive military rites were held for T/Cpl. Alice Virginia Hillewaert, WAC, at the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon, with Rev. Karl J. Hammar, pastor of the Central Methodist church, officiating. Burial was in the South Ford River cemetery.

Members of the American Legion posts and auxiliaries of Escanaba and Gladstone took part in the services, which were attended by many friends and relatives of the county. C. Arthur Anderson sang two solos, "God Understands" and "Beyond the Sunset," accompanied by Mrs. F. M. Fernstrom.

The pallbearers, all servicemen, were Charles Joncas, Frederick Kositzky, Donald Connelly, Arthur Klemmetsen, Hugo Fenske and Chester Borden. Members of the Legion Auxiliary, serving as honorary escorts, were Mrs. Roy Nerbonne, Mrs. William Petry, Mrs. William Perron, Mrs. Michael Goetz, Mrs. William E. Miron, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Addis Colbert, Mrs. Arthur Barron, Mrs. Edward Barron and Mrs. Joseph Ambeau.

Escanaba and Gladstone Legion members conducted the military ritual. They were:

Colorbearers — Walter Fudala, Victor Srock, Harry Compher and Oliver Beauchamp.

Colorguards—Jens Wheaton and Carl Johnson.

Bugler—Mac Danielson.

Chaplain—Archie Wood.

Firing squad—Sylvester Schram, in charge, Eugene Brassick, Raymond Charles, Carl Peterson, Clinton Groos, Clyde Caron, Donald Peltier, Henry Koehler, Delor LeBlanc, George Peoples and William Perron.

Serving as an honorary escort was S/Sgt. Iva Walters, WAC of Framingham, Mass., who accompanied the body to Escanaba.

HENRY A. MARTIN

Largely attended funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon for Henry A. Martin, pioneer Bark River resident, at the Salem Lutheran church. Rev. Emery Pokrant officiated and interment was made in the Bark River cemetery.

Pallbearers were August Ahlin, Ralph Gasman, Edward Hakes, Charles Olson and C. C. Paulson.

Out-of-town friends and relatives who attended were Otto E. Maas, Iron Mountain; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ahlin, Escanaba; Mr. and Mrs. George Hansen and Doris Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Flath and Howard Flath, Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Rotia Hakes, Escanaba; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nelson and Loreen Nelson, Marquette; Mrs. Clarence Bisaw, Brampton; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Treptor, Niagara; Mrs. Ellen Gasman, Munising; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gasman, Escanaba; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hakes, Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Flath, Sr., and Mrs. Louis Flath, Jr., Escanaba; Miss Mary Krieger, and Mrs. Gilbert Fenski, Skandia.

BRITISH BUILD CARGO CARRIER

Hermes Transport Will Travel Four Miles Per Minute

London— The Hermes Cargo Carrier, a gigantic airplane, has just been announced here by the Society of British Aircraft Constructors. It is under construction by the Handley Page Company, which is also building the 50-passenger Hermes transport, of which the new cargo plane is a version. Like the passenger model the cargo plane is a low-wing, all-metal, four-engined ship. It will carry a useful load of 16,000 pounds.

The four radial air-cooled engines of this cargo carrier give a total maximum output of 6,600 horsepower. The maximum speed of the airplane is 340 miles an hour, but its economical cruising speed over long distances is 240 miles an hour or four miles a minute. Its range is 2,000 miles.

British aircraft industry, with the European war over, is converting rapidly to the construction of civilian planes, both by remodelling war planes and by designing new planes which include improvements developed in constructing war planes. The British Minister of Civilian Aviation has announced that British airlines will use British aircraft, thus encouraging the industry.

The new Hermes is not as large as the new British flying boat, Shetland, which is a 70-passenger transoceanic airliner even larger than the Mars, the largest American-built flying boat. The Shetland is a 130,000 pound craft, while the Hermes is rated at 70,000 pounds. The Shetland has a greater wingspan than the famous American B-29 Superfortress.

Another new British plane is the Viking, an airliner with a range of 1,500 miles and constructed to carry 21 to 27 passengers. It is a single-engine plane that promises to play an important part in the development of postwar air routes to the continent of Europe. The Marathon is a new four-engined plane designed to carry 14 passengers and a half-ton of luggage and freight over a distance of 750 miles at a speed up to 200 miles an hour.

Crop Conditions Reported Improved First July Week

Washington— July ended its first week with crop-weather conditions showing some improvement—though there are undeniable bad spots in the picture. While spring-sown small grains are doing well, corn is late and in many places shows poor stands. Cotton appears to be doing a little better than corn on the average, but again there are unfavorable reports from some parts of the Cotton Belt. This is especially the case in Oklahoma, where the weather has been too wet, and in some areas in the Southeast, where an early summer drought seems to be developing.

The excessive heat with which the week began reacted to much cooler, as a great cold air mass moved over the country from the northwest. There were widely distributed rains, which however reached excessive proportions in only one region, the Kansas-Oklahoma-Missouri area. Seven-inch downpours in some of the river basins there caused flooding on the Missouri and some of its tributaries.

An ill wind blew Florida some good, when the small-sized hurricane that for a day or so threatened the state passed off to sea without doing material damage, and at the same time brought moderate to heavy rains, relieving the drought that has worried citrus growers ever since the beginning of the year. Conditions in the fruit-raising areas in that state are reported much improved.

A match produced in 1882 was known as the "Drunkard's Match" because the holding end of the splint was treated with a fire-proofing chemical which prevented burning beyond mid-point, thus saving scorched fingers if the user's attention was distracted.

A New "House of Magic" for Postwar America

"...one of the strongest guarantees of progress and world peace is continuous scientific preparedness through industrial research."

"General Electric has approved plans for a new $8,000,000 Research Laboratory. This expenditure has tremendous significance. Scientific research has contributed much to our progress as a nation.

"Many things have been discovered during this war, and we can and must develop them into better things for peacetime.

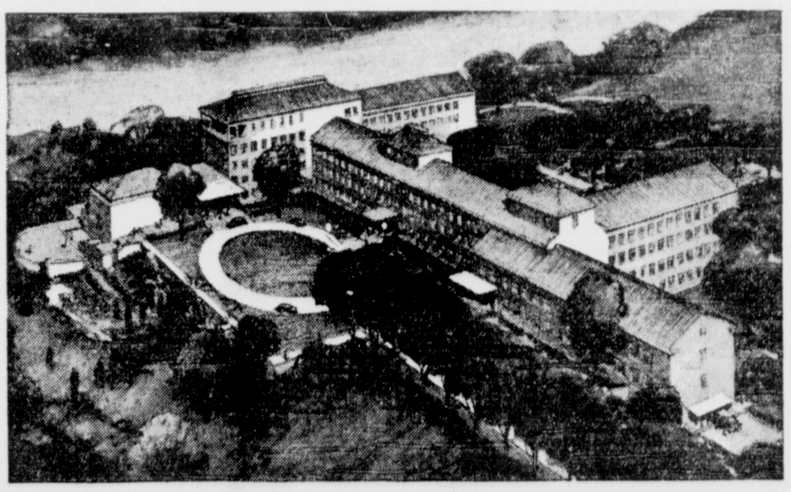
"Today we have 550 research people on our staff. These new facilities will not only give increased outlet for their abilities, but will provide opportunities for new research minds with new talents.

"From this new laboratory we think new achievements will come. In the past, G-E research has contributed much to better living in America—not only through new developments in x-ray, electricity, metallurgy, electronics and chemistry, but also through reduced cost and increased efficiency, as in the modern incandescent lamp.

"Even more than in the past the laboratory will emphasize research in pure science—continuing and expanding the work begun by Dr. Whitney and the late Dr. Steinmetz forty-five years ago.

"To find new facts of the physical world, to extend the limits of knowledge, is a forward step in creating More Goods for More People at Less Cost."

President
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY



New 8-million-dollar G-E Research Laboratory will be built five miles east of Schenectady, New York, on the Mohawk River. The geographic location offers special advantages for television, high voltage x-ray, and radar research. Buildings with 300,000 square feet of floor space will accommodate an expanded postwar research staff of about 800. Research rooms will be a scientist's paradise of equipment for experiments in chemistry, physics, mechanics, electronics. It is hoped that construction can start in six months.

No Negotiated Peace

THERE are increasing signs that the Japs are growing war-weary and would like to halt the destruction of their homeland on the basis of a negotiated peace. The latest bit of evidence in this direction has come from Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, who was Japanese ambassador to Washington at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack.

Admiral Nomura is now directing his propaganda line at the Allies' unconditional surrender policy, arguing that this policy will only result in higher Allied casualties.

The Nazis tried this same line, without result. We are dedicated to the task of eliminating Japanese aggression for all time and the American public is fully cognizant of the fact that this can be accomplished only by driving the Japs to complete, unconditional surrender. Anything less would be a betrayal of those who have given their lives to this end, and a betrayal of future generations of Americans.

It is true that there is active, small minority of misguided Americans who are favorable to a negotiated peace as a means of ending the war. The rank of file of the public, however, more than 80 per cent by accurate polls, is insistent upon nothing less than unconditional surrender as the sole terms for peace offered to the Japanese.

The policy of unconditional surrender of the Nazis and the Japs was formulated early in the war, long before Allied military might reached the proportions that it has attained. We stuck to that policy wihout the slightest deviation throughout the European war. Now that we have available our entire resources to throw against the Japs alone, it would be senseless and even tragic to consider anything less than unconditional surrender of the Japanese.

Russian Realism Again

SOME interesting inconsistencies in American and Russian policies crop out as plans are being made for the military occupation of a defeated Germany.

The Allied Military Government appears to have decided upon a policy of stern discipline and suppression in Germany. But the Russians, whom we have known as people strictly regimented under a Communist dictatorship, are displaying more leniency. Again, they show themselves to be the realists they are, disinclined to abide by hard and fast rules.

The Russians contend that the Americans and British, with long experience in the democratic way of life, are wrong when they insist upon complete repression of German political activity. They feel some exceptions must be made. For instance, the Red army forces in German areas occupied by the Russians have suppressed Nazi organizations, but they are allowing freedom of activity to anti-Fascist or anti-Nazi groups. They also have encouraged trade unions, suppressed during Hitler's regime, to come back to life.

This does not mean, however, that the Russians intend to be lenient to German war criminals. In fact, they are complaining that Britain and the United States are losing too much valuable time in meting out justice to the Goerings and others of his ilk. Apparently, the Russians feel it is impossible to keep Germany under an Allied yoke for years. They believe the problem can be solved by eliminating the gangsters and allowing the recent people to create a new and better Germany.

In the hysteria of war, we have been led to believe there are no good Germans, but apparently the Russians have a different view of the situation.

So You Want a New Car!

UNPLEASANT reading for innumerable Americans doubtless was the recent statement of Col. J. Monroe Johnson, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation, that it will be at least three years before millions of persons are able to buy new automobiles.

Disliking the role of wet blanket, it would be pleasant to express the opinion that Colonel Johnson has leaned toward the pessimistic side, so as to avoid the disappointments, and the criticisms, that would result from a more optimistic prediction unfulfilled.

Unfortunately, anyone who examines facts and records won't be inclined to accuse the ODT chief of pessimism. On the contrary, his views smack of optimism. It will be a production miracle indeed, even for American industry, if all who want new automobiles are able to obtain them within the next three years. We won't go so far as to say it is a miracle impossible of achievement. But it doesn't seem likely, and let's examine some of the reasons why:

Motor vehicle registrations in the United States in 1941 totaled 32,557,954. Replacements since then have been negligible. Most cars of 1941 and prior-year vintage could well be replaced now. Nearly all will be ready for the scrap heap three years hence.

Thus, if they could be produced, it is entirely possible that the market could absorb within the next three years as many automobiles as were registered in 1941. That would call for more than 32,000,000 motor vehicles, with no allowance for several million non-owners of four years ago who expect to ride when cars are available again.

What would seem to be the reasonable probabilities that the motor car industry might be able to reconvert and then produce for such a market?

Let's consider past production records. During 1941, American motor vehicle production reached the all-time record total of 4,838,561 units—including 3,744,300 passenger cars and 1,094,261 trucks. Production during EIGHT years, 1934-41, inclusive, approximated only 31,200,000 units.

Clearly, if the automobile industry can, within three years, reconvert and produce for such a prospective market, it will represent an unparalleled record of peacetime production.

True, it might be done. American industry might do anything. But common sense would seem to emphasize further the wisdom of the advice: If you are so fortunate as to possess an automobile, you had better take care of it If you ever find yourself afoot, you are liable to be traveling shanks' mare for a long time to come.

Use for Quack Grass

QUACK grass or couch grass, notorious as an evil weed in America as well as in Europe, has a possible used in animal feeding, experiments performed by British scientists indicate.

Quack grass spreads over the ground by means of quick-growing runner-like stems or rhizomes. It can be slowed, though not stopped, by pulling these loose with a rake and stacking them up to dry. But this, of course, involves labor costs, and no offsetting use has ever been suggested for the dead weed growths.

W. King Wilson, a British research expert, made chemical analyses of dried quack-grass rhizomes and found that the food substances in them compared favorably with those in ordinary hay. Then he substituted them for hay in the diet of a group of rabbits, and found that the animals thrived at least as well as those of a similar group on hay.

The discovery probably will not be of much interest to American farmers, but to the average newspaper reader it again illustrates that the scientists never rest but continue to try to find worthwhile uses for plants and other products that have been going to waste. The world and its people will never want as long as scientists are given freedom and support to carry on their work.

OPA HAS ITS GOOD POINTS

(Christian Science Monitor)

President Truman, when signing the OPA extension bill, gave credit to the stabilization agencies for serving the nation "loyally and well" in the face of their "unpleasant, thankless task of enforcing controls during a critical period."

Just how much the controls have benefited the public is brought to light in a world-wide study of the inflation problem just made by the Life Insurance Companies in America from official data. The Bureau of Labor Statistics' figure of a 27.1 per cent war rise in United States living costs as of April, 1945, has been criticized as not sufficiently inclusive. But even at the highest rate claimed, the record is remarkable in contrast with that of most other countries outside of the British Commonwealth.

The study revealed that the Greek drachma was wiped out when money in circulation reached a peak of 31,140,000 times prewar. China was next with costs up 16,522 per cent, Italy, 1,637, Bulgaria 1,308, the Netherlands 599, France 365. These, of course, are countries which suffered war devastation, but among the neutrals, for example, Portugal had a rise of 7 per cent, Spain 47, Sweden 49, and Switzerland 53. In Latin America, Argentina had a low of 7 per cent, but Bolivia was up 235, Cuba 87, Mexico 109, and so on.

Abstract figures are hard for the average layman to grasp, but when he thinks of paying from $25 to $100 for a pair of shoes, or $5 for a loaf of bread, they take on new meaning. Add to this the near-starvation conditions existing in many European countries, and the American citizen can feel very grateful for his blessings, including the OPA.

The difference between success and failure is the difference between living because you want to and because you must.

WORDS TO WATCH

Overheard on We the People (an Air Forces general speaking): ". . . much of our 'avvy-ation' will be shifted to the Pacific." It is surprising how tenacious the mispronunciation is even among aviators themselves. The first "a" of aviation and aviator should have the long "ay" sound as in "day, may," thus:

AY-vee-AY'shun
AY'vee-AY-ter

From Mrs. B. C., Los Angeles: Many people pronounce OREGON as "AWR-ee-GAWN." Correct?

Answer: Our gazeteers agree on: AHR-ee-gun.

From Dr. J. T. F., Nashville: It irks my soul to hear "noo-ee-sance" for the word nuisance. Am I justified in being unhappy about it?

Answer: "NOO-ee-sance" is a spelling pronunciation for which there is no sanction whatever. The word has two syllables only. The "u" may have the "yoo" sound or the "oo" sound. But the "i" is never pronounced. Say: NYOO-s'nss, or: NOO-s'nss.

There is no "Guy" in gyroscope. In all words derived from the Greek gyros, "a circle," the "g" has the sound of "j". Be sure to say: JY-ro-skope.

For some undisclosed reason, men in the building trades place an erroneous "sh" sound at the end of the word cornice, as if they were saying the adjective Cornish. Theword cornice should end with "iss," to rhyme with "miss." Be sure to say: KAWR-niss.

There is no "you" in silhouette. Not "SILL-you-et." The main accent falls on the third syllable, thus: SILL-oo-ET'.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

The resignation of Justice Owen J. Roberts adds the final chapter to the supreme court fight of the 1930's, which churned public opinion to a new pitch in the course of the struggle over acceptance of the New Deal.

Childs

It is not that Justice Roberts was firmly attched to the conservative wing of the old court. His was not the bitterness of Justice McReynolds nor the stubborn determination of Justice Van Deventer to resist all change. Often Roberts voted against the conservatives. But he wrote one of the most famous opinions of that era of clashing wills. Justice Roberts spoke for the majority of the court in invalidating the first agricultural adjustment act. The act regulated agricultural production and thus exercised a power not granted to the federal government but reserved to the states, Roberts said in his opinion.

—STONE'S DISSENT FAMOUS—

If that opinion was famous, so was the dissent from it, written by Justice Harlan F. Stone of the liberal minority, whom President Roosevelt was later to name Chief Justice. Stone, in his dissent, read his conservative brethren a stern lecture for trying to make the law themselves instead of being content merely to interpret the statutes passed by Congress.

In the course of this famous dissent, he said that "while unconstitutional exercise of power by the executive and legislative branches of the government is subject to judicial restraint, the only check upon our own exercise of power is our own sense of self-restraint. For the removal of unwise laws from the statute books, appeal lies not to the courts but to the ballot and to the processes of Democraic government."

As he was to repeat over and over with his salty New England common sense, Stone was saying that while he might not like a law, he felt it beyond his power as a judge to throw it out if it clearly came within the framework "of our great charter of government," the constitution.

What is certain to fascinate future historians is that the struggle within the court today—and the bitterness is almost as great as it was back in the 'thirties—is over the same issue. Repeatedly, in his dissents, Chief Justice Stone accuses the new majority of trying to make the laws. Once again Stone is fighting what he believes to be judge-made law.

The member of the new court who votes most frequently with Stone is Justice Robert H. Jackson. Justice Felix Frankfurter is also a frequent dissenter, and so is Justice Stanley Reed, both named by Roosevelt.

—BLACK IS MAJORITY LEADER—

The leader of the New Deal majority is Justice Hugo Black. In dissenting from Black's opinions, Stone has used language as sharp as in the days when he was differing with the conservatives. Consistently, he opposed judicial law-making regardless of what the judges' political point of view may be.

While in recent years Justice Roberts frequently went along with the dissenting minority and sometimes dissented alone, he showed plainly that he was not happy in the prevailing atmosphere of acrimony and suspicion. Roberts is an urban and worldly man whose memory goes back to the days when the court did not seem, at least, to be contending for power in the sweaty arena.

But this worldly conservative had as perhaps his closest friend on the court the late Justice Louis D. Brandies, a liberal in the old tradition. Roberts has often told how Brandeis saved him from making what would have been the most serious mistake of his life.

As the result of a trusteeship which he retained after he went on the court, Roberts came in for undeserved attack. Thinking this might reflect on the court, he had just about made up his mind to resign. Before he took the step, however, he consulted his good friend. Brandeis persuaded him that resignation would actually reflect on the court and that, being blameless, he had no alternative but to stay on the bench.

The troubled confusion of our time is inevitably reflected in the court. Justice Roberts now steps out of that confusion, like a latter-day Roman, to the peace and quiet of his Pennsylvania farm.

MATTER FOR STUDY — The increasing infestation of the Upper Peninsula by wood ticks may not be cause for alarm, yet the preparations being made to study the wood tick by several state departments indicates that the problem is not to be taken lightly.

Dunathan

The interest of the conservation department in the increasing presence of wood ticks in areas not heretofore infested is understandable. The department wants to determine whether the ticks are a threat to wildlife and also the effect of the wood tick on the state's recreation opportunities.

It has already been publicized that the conservation department is collecting tick specimens and is forwarding them to Lansing for study. Hundreds of the ticks have been collected already, and additional hundreds may be expected taken before the summer ends.

What the future may bring from the spreading infestation of the wood tick cannot be guessed. But Michigan is concerned and does intend to do something about it, even though it may mean for the present learning as much as possible about a possible threat to wildlife—and to man.

* * *

THE HEALTH ANGLE — Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the bureau of epidemiology for the Michigan Department of Health, was queried on the possibility that the wood tick may become, or is now a public health problem. In reply he enclosed a copy of a letter he had written Dr. D. G. Douglass, bilogist of the conservation department. It will be recalled that Dr. Douglass was in the Upper Peninsula recently receiving wood tick specimens collected by game area managers.

The copy of Dr. Leeder's letter to Dr. Douglass is interesting because it presents the public health angle of the wood tick infestation. And Dr. Leeder assures Dr. Douglass that "I am only too pleased to cooperate with the Department of Conservation."

* * *

SPOTTED FEVER—Dr. Leeder writes in part as follows:

"The two questionable cases of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, one in the Berrien-Cass county area, and one for the vicinity of Crystal Falls, were never proven.

"The Crystal Falls person agglutinated in such a low titer that the National Institute of Health did not feel it significant. The Cass county case died before a positive laboratory diagnosis could be made. Also, in the Cass county case, we were unable to get any positive evidence of tick bite.

"The two cases which were probably incurred in Montana or Wyoming occurred in 1941. These two people were husband and wife and owned a troupe of performing dogs. The assumption is that the dogs picked up the ticks on their way through the southwest, and these ticks, in turn, affected their owners."

* * *

DERMACENTOR VARIABILIS—The wood tick, so-called, scientifically is named Dermacentor Andersoni. So closely allied in appearance that the lay man can scarcely distinguish the two, is Dermacentor Variabilis.

Dr. Leeder's letter continues:

"Doctor Ray Hutson, head of the Department of Entomology at Michigan State College, has identified ticks from the Upper Peninsula and from southwestern Michigan on repeated occasions as dermacentor variabilis.

"Last year similar ticks were sent to the Rocky Mountain Laboratory of the U. S. Public Health Service in Hamilton, Montana, to determine whether or not rickettsial bodies could be recovered. The laboratory reported that they were unable to recover rickettsia. It is reasonable then to conclude that while we have dermacentor variabilis in Michigan that they are, in all probability, not infected with the spotted fever organism."

* * *

QUICKER THE BETTER—Continuing his letter to Dr. Douglass, Dr. Leeder wrote:

"Since talking to you, I have done some inquiring as to how long it is safe to allow a tick to remain attached to a person. The concensus of opinion is that ticks which are removed within 2 to 5 hours of their attachments are not likely to cause infection. However, the earlier that a tick is removed the better.

"It is thought that a tick requires a blood meal and a reasonable incubation period before the rickettsia are activated. Apparently the infection is transmitted from the tick soiling the area of attachment with its excrement."

* * *

NUISANCE PROBLEM — "If ticks continue to be the nuisance problem that they seem to be, it might worthwhile for the Department of Conservation, Doctor Hutson ,and the Bureau of Epidemiology to prepare a mimeographed statement which might be distributed on request," Dr. Leeder concludes.

* * *

INCLUDE IN STUDY—A letter to Michigan State College brought information that Dr. Penner of the public health school is planning to come to the Upper Peninsula in a few weeks to do some field work on other subject. Some work on wood ticks may be included, however, and Dr. Penner will visit Escanaba in the course of his trip.

The Lyons Den

—By Leonard Lyons

(Leanard Lyons is in Europe. His guest columnist today is Herbert Brownell Jr., Chairman Republican National Committee.)

I was lounging very peacefully on the porch of an Arizona ranch one evening recently, with nothing more on my mind than an Arizona sunset, when one of the hands rode up, tossed an envelope in my lap and announced unnecessarily—"letter for ye."

It started off innocently enough "Dear Herb," and ended graciously with "Sincerely, Leonard Lyons." In between it suggested that I might like to write a guest column for "The Lyons Den." That certainly added to life's burdens of the moment, but I still haven't met anyone who would dodge the compliment of such a request. But what to write? Just a few thoughts on the job of directing a national political campaign, a bit of reminiscence, Leonard had suggested.

I didn't feel like writing just then or even thinking—especially about politics. The lethargy that comes after a big ranch supper can be very pleasant indeed. It can be particularly pleasant if it tops off a day of fifteen miles in the saddle.

The banty-legged little cowboy had put me aboard my horse that morning with what seemed at the time like an ominous remark—"If you use those spurs, keep one eye on the cactus." He meant there was no telling where I'd land if the buckskin suddenly got fractious.

Come to think of it, I mused, that isn't bad advice in politics—particularly for a national chairman in a Presidential campaign.

There was, for instance, that little incident of October 16th which shocked the New Deal faithful attending the Herald Tribune Forum, reverberated in the night club atmosphere of "21," the broadcasting rooms of NBC and in general gave the Democratic campaign strategists a bad night.

It all started when Major General Frederick Henry Osborn, head of the Morale and Education Division of the Army Service Forces, mounted the Forum platform and, in an address brodcast over WMCA at 9:15 P. M. said:

"You know it took a long while to get our troops to Europe and to the Pacific. Almost three years, with every ship in use and every ship loaded. It will take just as long or longer to get these men out of Europe, those who aren't needed there."

Now those words in themselves look innocent enough. The trouble was that some time earlier Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, had declared that "We can keep people in the Army about as cheaply as we could create an agency for them when they get out."

Governor Dewey and other Republican orators had been hammering away at that one as indicative of the New Deal's desire for slow demobilization of soldiers. Under the circumstances, General Osborn's remark that three years or longer would be required to get our soldiers out of Europe after victory, was political dynamite.

It dropped like a bombshell among that portion of the Forum audience with New Deal leanings. It offered us gratuitously one more indication that Republicans were on the beam on that issue. And it utterly ruined Mrs. Anna Rosenberg's evening at "21," where she was a dinner guest after the Forum.

A political faux pas doesn't have to walk up and smack Mrs. Rosenberg to get recognition, she having been around the New Deal diggings for some time now. Her party buzzed with talk of General Osborn's remark. For Mrs. Rosenberg and her table companion, another of our Generals, it was the one topic of conversation.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—The "Secret Document" situation is causing a lot of mirth inside the office of strategic services. OSS is the outfit, sometimes called "Oh So Secret," organized by General "Wild Bill" Donovan, assistant attorney general under Coolidge and who has done some fine work in both wars, but who also has succeeded in collecting one of the fanciest group of dilettante diplomats, Wall Street bankers, and amateur detectives ever seen in Washington.

Pearson

While the youngsters in uniform recruited by Donovan have done some of the most heroic work of the war, such as parachuting behind enemy lines, his "cloak and dagger" boys in Washington have had a marvelous time playing house detectives.

Not long ago this column illustrated the ultra-secret social operations of the OSS by publishing a "Secret" telegram which merely reported on the social doings of a Donovan representative at the San Francisco conference—with whom he dined, his efforts to rent an apartment, and his plans for visiting other cities on the West Coast.

Since then, there has been a large-scale man hunt in the OSS looking for leaks.

An extra person has been detailed to stand beside the mimeograph machine and tear up all extra, spoiled copies of messages. Copies of messages have been reduced to three, and are sent around with armed guards. Any extra copies above this are chopped up in a shredding machine into inch squares. Meanwhile, security officers swarm all over the place like hawks, and mysterious holes have appeared in the ceiling presumably to watch people working below.

Finally, the Paris office of OSS was thrown into consternation when a man suddenly appeared to inspect their operations. They couldn't stop him, however, because he had a permit to poke around the office from none other than the Assistant Secretary of War John J. McCloy.

—OSS MERRY-GO-ROUND—

A Col. Joseph Rodrigo of the U. S. army was especially sent by President Truman to deliver to Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia some of the Emperor's jewels and documents recovered in Italy. Mussolini's boys carted them off to Italy when they looted the Emperor's palace in Addis Ababa, and so President Truman wanted to send them back by a personal messenger. But the OSS sent Col. Rodrigo only part way. They said privately they didn't want him down in Ethiopia. So the jewels were relayed to the Emperor by another man . . . thirty cases of OSS documents were captured by the Japs in Burma and China, which the Japs have turned over to the Russians. From a Russian viewpoint, the documents are most interesting because they show a consistent anti-Russian policy being followed by OSS operators, plus plans for future work against the Russians . . . OSS top men are nearly all picked from the Red-baiters . . . Marshal Tito has ordered all OSS men out of Yugoslavia. However, seven OSS men stayed on at the American Embassy anyway . . . The Russians have now barred all OSS men from Rumania. One OSS agent has been left inside the American legation, however, and the OSS has been scrambling round to find places for others in Bucharest.

—THE FIGHT OVER FILES—

Hard-hitting Senator Harley Kilgore of West Virginia, recently returned from Europe, is recommending to President Truman that the files of the famous Nazi Cartel, I. G. Farben, which developed synthetic gasoline and rubber patents and cooperated with U. S. business, be microfilmed.

These files, which may hold among the most precious of Nazi war secrets, have been kicked around Germany, and were even stored for a while in a warehouse with displaced persons who tore some of them up for bedding and toilet uses. Also the files have been the subject of a tug-of-war between jealous U. S. agencies, including the Army, the OSS, the Justice Department and the FEA.

Some of the files were found buried in the basements and back gardens of high I. G. Farben officials, who took them home as the war neared its end. Some were carted off by the Germans to escape bombing. Two boxcars filled with files were shipped off to Weimar. Most of the files are under the army at Frankfurt, but some are under the OSS at Heidelberg.

Top-notch I. G. Farben officials are also considered important for establishing war guilt and ascertaining war secrets. They have been kept in prison ever since the armistice, though several seemed confident that high U. S. and British businessmen would get them out. The name they most frequently mention as the friend who would rescue them is Lord McGowan, head of British Imperial Chemical, Ltd. Some also mentioned Lammot Du Pont. (Both Du Pont and Imperial Chemical had agreements with I. G. Farben before the war.)

Thomas H. McKittrick, head of the bank of International Settlements, was also one who the I. G. Farben officials thought would help them; together with Leon Fraser, formerly with the Bank of International Settlements, who committed suicide under unusual circumstances last winter. I. G. Farben officials, incidentally, did not know that he was dead.

COUNTY HEALTH COUNCIL URGED

Public Health Program Would Benefit, Says Dr. W. Menke

Organization of a Delta county public health council or committee, and a similar council for the Upper Peninsula, was suggested yesterday by Dr. Wilbur Menke, deputy commissioner for the Michigan Department of Health in the Upper Peninsula, in a talk to the Escanaba Rotary club.

Such a council or committee could do the county and for the area service by considering health problems and also bring better understanding of the state's public health program, Dr. Menke said.

"If some of our public spirited and minded citizens would get together in such an organization it could also stop much of the misinformation which I have found since I have been here," he added.

Suggested by Dr. Menke as representatives on such a council for Delta county were township supervisors, service club members, the medical profession, nurses, schools, pharmacists, welfare and other public agencies.

Describing himself as a "glorified trouble shooter in the field of public health," Dr. Menke said that health is a group problem, and the people should be more closely aligned with a program established for the benefit of the group. The state health department, he added, is helpful in consultant work.

"Something is coming up over the horizon that smacks of state medicine," Dr. Menke continued. "I speak only for myself in this, yet I know that the bureau is not in favor of state medicine."

He pointed out that the state health department was established in 1873, that it has no bureau of medicine, that its representatives do not administer medicine or treat persons. The work of the department is altogether in the preventative field, and to encourage persons to see their doctor.

"This community and others have suffered because men not trained in public health have been required to fill vacancies during this period of wartime shortage. In some cases these men have actually practiced medicine, which is against our policy," the deputy health commissioner explained.

Dr. Menke outlined the health problem of the future, which he described as international in scope because of rapid transportation, and conditions in wartorn countries. Distance no longer is a barrier to disease. After the last war 20 million persons died of influenza.

A survey made in 1938 showed that in the larger cities the sickness and death rates have not improved in the past 50 years, Dr. Menke added. He quoted statistics to prove the need for greater public awareness to the health problem and the need for public cooperation in health programs.

The survey revealed 70,000 deaths annually from tuberculosis, one million cases of gonorrhea, 500,000 cases of syphilis, 150,000 deaths from cancer, 40 per cent of which were external and might have been cured, 250,000 births at which the mother did not receive care of a physician.

Girl Relates Story Of Dramatic Bay Tragedy

While rough weather yesterday temporarily halted dragging the waters of Bay de Noc for the body of Lt. John Birkenmeier, who was drowned Saturday after a canoe in which he was riding capsized, his sister, Marion, 14, who survived the oreal of six hours adrift, clinging to the overturned boat, told the story of drama and tragedy.

Marion, who was rescued at 8:15 p. m. Saturday by Escanaba Coast Guardsmen Dan Garrett and Nels Engberg, 100 feet off the Stonington shore, is recovering from exhaustion and severe bruises at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Birkenmeier, 1008 Ninth avenue south. Following her rescue she was taken to the Peter Holmberg residence at Stonington, but later returned with her parents to Escanaba.

Bleeding at Mouth

The girl reported that her brother, recently liberated from a prisoner of war camp in Germany, slipped off the capsized canoe about 7 p. m. and disappeared under the water. He may have suffered a heart attack, the girl said, because he was unconscious before he fell from the boat and was bleeding from his mouth. Marion said that she had moved from the front of the overturned canoe to the rear, where her brother was hanging to the canoe, several times to give him assistance.

The last time Marion went to Lt. Birkenmeier's aid, the youth's head was hanging limply, partly submerged. She pulled his face out of the water and tried to talk to him but received no response. Then he slipped into the water and disappeared.

The girl revealed that the canoe capsized south of the municipal bathing beach shortly after two o'clock. Lt. Birkenmeier had a late afternoon appointment with his father. When the Army Air Force flier glanced at his watch, it was 2:05 p. m. and the couple decided to return to shore. Just then a squall swept the lake and a gust of wind caught the canoe broadside, flipping it over.

Marion said yesterday that a number of local yachts passed near their position shortly after the couple shouted for help, but the pounding of the waves and the whistle of the wind drowned their voices.

At 6:25 p. m. Fred Sensiba, Escanaba flier searching for the missing couple, passed directly over their position near Stonington, Marion reported, but the green canoe, partially submerged and the couple, with only their heads above water, were not seen by Sensiba, who had several lifebelts with him to drop to the couple in the event that he had located them.

Body Badly Bruised

When the airplane passed, the stranded couple lost hope for their rescue, Marion revealed.

Contrary to the belief that Marion's life was saved by a rope tied to her wrist, it was learned that the rope merely had woven around her wrist by the action of the waves shortly before her rescue. Previously she moved to various positions at the canoe to assist her brother. She did not see the Coast Guard boat that was searching for her, she said.

Marion was severely bruised by the battering of the waves against the overturned canoe, but is recovering satisfactorily.

Coast Guardsmen, local officials and volunteers dragged the waters from the Escanaba south shore to Stonington Sunday and yesterday for the body of Lt. Birkenmeier without avail. Dragging operations were temporarily suspended yesterday afternoon because of the rough water, but a search of the shoreline continued.

CIRCUIT COURT SESSION OPENS

Three Plead Guilty On Criminal Docket; Non-Jury Term

Circuit court for Delta county, a non-jury term, opened yesterday in the court house at Escanaba with Judge Frank A. Bell of Negaunee presiding.

Three pleas of guilty were heard yesterday by the court. They were entered by Leonard Gerou, Escanaba, charged with robbery; Paul Van Mill, Gladstone, charged with disorderly, third offense; and John Varron, Coleman, Wis., charged with burglary.

Julius Willette of Perkins entered a nolle contendre plea to a charge of illegitimacy.

Other criminal cases are: Rose Provo, Escanaba, larceny, which was passed at a review of the calendar yesterday; Eugene Michigaud, Harris, illegitimacy, passed; James Thorin, illegitimacy, continued; Jasper Deal, non-support, scheduled for hearing today; and William Wilson, charged with statutory rape.

Among the non-jury civil cases, a judgement was issued for the defendant and the defendant is to recover costs and charges in the case of Lawrence St. Ours vs. William Stratton, ejectment. Three cases were continued; Frank Meyers vs. Michael Novak; Boehck Equipment company vs. Charles Gunderson, assumpsit; Carl Boutotte vs. Roy Van Mill and Henry Couillard, tresspass on the case.

Judge Bell denied a motion for a directed verdict in favor of the defendant in the case of Warren T. Brown vs. William C. Johnson. The motion was made at the last term of court and was taken under advisement. Brown, plaintiff, seeks damages for injuries suffered when a bicycle he was riding, and a car driven by Johnson, collided on Delta avenue, Gladstone.

Rapid River Youth With Noted Marine Group On Okinawa

T/Sgt. Donald H. Larsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Larsen of Rapid River R 1, is a member of Marine Air Group 33, which shot down 224 Japanese plants and flew more than 25,000 combat hours during the Okinawa campaign. The group has been acclaimed one of the finest outfits in Marine corps aviation history.

D. Larsen

Commanded by Col. Ward E. Dickey, Dubois, Pa., the group's pilots flew nearly 10,000 sorties with Corsairs, Hellcats, night fighters and Avenger torpedo bombers from the time of the first combat air patrol from Kadena field April 10 until Okina was secured June 12. Only two planes were lost in aerial combat. Forty-four were lost by anti-aircraft fire, and rough flying conditions caused a loss of 12 planes.

Sergeant Larsen has been serving with Group 33 since April 1. He attended Rapid River and Perkins schools, and was graduated from the Perkins high school in 1942. Munising News

WILLIAM LUOMA DIES

Munising—William Luoma, 71, of the Mannisto camp, Cusino, died Saturday at the Munising hospital. He had been in ill health for several years. Mr. Luoma was born in Finland Jan. 1, 1874, and had resided in this district for 45 years, coming from the Soo. The body is at the Beaulieu funeral home.

GUARDS LOSE

The Munising Coast Guards were defeated in both ends of a doubleheader, 8 to 4 and 4 to 1, in games played Sunday at the Marquette Branch Prison. Bob Davis, recently discharged from the Army, pitched both games for the Coast Guards and registered 13 strikeouts in the two games. This evening at the playgrounds Lincoln's All Stars will meet the Coast Guards. The game is called for 7 p. m.

As observed in North America, reindeer are considered to have some of the traits of sheep, cattle and horses. They are gregarious like sheep, graze somewhat like cattle and in intelligence and activity more nearly resemble horses.

The first seven ribs in the body are called true ribs, the next three false and the last two floating ribs.

OLD ESCANABA RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. James J. Corcoran Stricken; Lived Here For 82 Years

Mrs. James J. (Ella) Corcoran, 83, of 620 South Eighth street, resident in Escanaba for 82 years, died at 6:30 p. m. Monday at her home. She had been in ill health for four years, suffering from arteriosclerosis.

Mrs. Corcoran was born June 5, 1863, at Menasha, Wis., and as a baby one year old came to Escanaba with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Killian, her father having moved to this city to help build the first railroad. She attended private school in a home in the village of Escanaba until the first public school was built. She then went to public school, through high school, and took the teacher's examination. As Ella Killian, she served for several years as a teacher in the early Escanaba public school system, and numbered many prominent local citizens among her pupils. Her marriage to James J. Corcoran, a C. & N. W. railway engineer, took place Sept. 18, 1884, at St. Joseph's church, with the Rev. Fr. E. Butterman officiating. Mr. Corcoran, who served as an engineer for the railroad for 51 years, died in January, 1929.

Mrs. Corcoran was a member of St. Patrick's church, and until her illness was active in the Escanaba Womans Club, C. & N. W. Railway Women's club, American Legion Auxiliary, Women's Relief Corps, Catholic Order of Foresters, and Ancient Order of Hibernians Auxiliary.

Surviving are two daughters and three sons, Mrs. U. F. Asselin (Myda) of Norway; Mrs. M. J. Snell, (Marguerite) Escanaba; Dr. C. J. Corcoran and Dr. G. J. Corcoran, Escanaba; Dr. W. A. Corcoran, Ishpeming; also 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. A brother, W. H. Killian of Grand Forks, N. D., and a sister, Miss Alice Killian of Chicago, also survive.

The body was taken to the Allo funeral home and will be returned to the family home Wednesday morning. Funeral services will be at 10 a. m. Thursday at St. Patrick's church with the Rev. Fr. James Corcoran of Menominee officiating.

Gauges which are accurate down to one-millionth of an inch are used to measure the steel balls which go into ball bearings for airplanes, tanks, and other war vehicles. If the balls vary in size more than five-millionths of an inch they are rejected.

Army Truck Wrecked—A U. S. Army truck was found wrecked in a ditch about two miles west of Ford River Switch on US 2-41 when Deputy Sheriff Emil Johnson investigated the accident Saturday night. He reported there was no one at the scene of the accident, and no report of the mishap was made to the sheriff's department. The truck rolled over several times and came to rest 50 feet from the pavement with its underpart buried in the ground.

Two types of synthetic rubber are being provided for rubber printing plates and marking devices. One is selected for its high resiliency, although somewhat less resistant than the other type to the cleaning fluids and printing inks. The second type sacrifices some resiliency for high resistance to cleaning fluids and inks.

Junior High Boys Produced Articles For Service Men

Junior High school boys in the wood and metal working classes have made hundreds of useful items for the comfort and pleasure of men in the armed forces. This work was supervised by Mr. John Nicholas.

In a recent shipment made by the Junior Red Cross to the American Red Cross Supply Center, St. Louis, to be shipped overseas were: 130—Cribbage boards, 76—Writing boards, 42—Ash trays and 55—Watch stands.

These will be for the use of the men in the American forces.

Sixteen lap boards made of veneer plywood well finished and polished have been shipped to North Camp Hood, Gatesville, Texas. Lap boards are very much appreciated by wheel chair patients. The Birds-Eye Veneer Co. contributed the material for the lap board and writing boards. The ash trays were made from tin cans and the watch stands from coat hangers.

Check Your Diet To Guard Against Vitamin A Deficiency These Days

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Food for thought is that a scarcity of butter and other fats is apt to cause a Vitamin A deficiency in your diet. Without a sufficient Vitamin A content in your three-a-day, you can't hope for a healthy skin, lustrous hair, dazzling teeth and good vision.

So, in order to tell you what's what in dependable sources when red points run low or the grocer says "No," we queried the nutritionists, who say: "Eggs, spinach, kale, squash, carrots, milk and ice cream."

In an average serving of ice cream, they say, you get 277 units of Vitamin A, and a food that is available and causes absolutely no pain to take.

If you worry for fear ice cream is a figure threat, slim Adele Jergens—star of "Thousand and One Nights"—reassures you that ice cream contains the same number of calories as a luscious baked apple, which, as you know, is right up front on many reducing diets.

Women Want True Story Of Scarce Food In Country

By RUTH MILLETT

"Peaches are being fed to hogs because there isn't enough sugar for canning," an OPA employee told women of one Southern city in an effort to persuade those who had received their canning certificates early to return all certificates over 10 pounds per person, the prevailing rate.

The statement was enough to make conscientious women who had been issued 15 or 20 pounds per person rush down and turn in the difference between what they had been given and the 10 pounds per person to which the canning sugar ration had been cut.

And then the OPA district director flatly denied the story. Said he: "There is enough home-canning sugar in the county to can all available fruits and vegetables. There is no record or evidence of a single complaint and I seriously doubt that anyone in the county has fed one peach to hogs. It is extremely difficult in this organization to prevent irresponsible employes from making irresponsible statements—as was made about the peaches being fed to hogs."

The official who had the courage to deny a story that was working on women's consciences because he felt it wasn't true ought to be a hero to American women.

Good Sports

For women have had to put up with all kinds of inconveniences in wartime, and they have been pretty good sports about it. Cheerfully, they have stood in line to buy food. They have made the best of shortages that have worked real hardships on their families, like the current meat shortage. They have taken on new homemaker jobs like gardening, canning, etc.

But just because they have been good sports, they shouldn't be imposed upon—as they often are. And certainly their sympathies shouldn't be played on by the use of untrue stories—just to whip them into line.

They have a right to know whether there is any real need for their sacrifices. And it is time they quit being docile and looked into every demand that they sacrifice and do without to see if there is any real reason for it.

Margaret Richer, Louis Gryzb Wed

Garden flowers banked the altar of Sacred Heart church at Schaffer for the wedding on Saturday, June 23, of Miss Margaret Richer, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Richer, and Louis Gryzb, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gryzb of Bark River Rt. 1.

Rev. Fr. Roland Dion was celebrant of the 9 o'clock nuptial high mass, solemnized the service before a large gathering of relatives and friends of the two families.

Mrs. Blanche Seymour played the traditional bridal marches and also sang the "Ave Maria" at the offertory, assisted by the church choir.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Mrs. Ernest Brure, sister of the bride and matron of honor, and Miss Leona Patrick of Schaffer, Miss Bernice Haznacke of Chicago and Miss Leona Skrobiak of Bark River were the bridesmaids. Suzan St. John of Spalding, a niece of the bride, was flower girl. Gerald Richer, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Stanley Gryzb served as best man, and ushers were Emil Skrobiak and Edward Kwarciancy.

Bride In White

The bride was beautifully gowned in a fitted model of white marquisette with lace inserts, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves puffed at the shoulder and tapering to points over the wrist and a full skirt forming a long train. A rowe of tiny satin-covered buttons to the waistline trimmed the back. Her long veil, edged with matching lace, was gathered to a crown of orange blossoms. She carried an all-white bouquet of calla lilies.

Her matron of honor wore blue and the bridesmaid wore an identical gown of pink net over satin. The attendants all wore headdresses to match their gowns.

The matron of honor carried yellow roses and the bridesmaid bouquets of red roses. The frocks of the flower girls were of peach net over satin. They carried mixed flowers. The little boy ring bearer wore a tuxedo and carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

Mrs. Richer chose for her daughter's wedding a lavender flowered dress with white accessories. Mrs. Gryzb, mother of the bridegroom, wore a two-piece blue dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore shoulder corsages of red roses and pink carnations.

"My home is really my castle now"

Having full title to my home made all the difference in the world to me. Gave me the independence and security that really make a man's home his castle. And it was no trouble at all to arrange. I found out that I could quickly convert my land contract into a Mortgage Loan at the Escanaba National Bank. Now I'm a full fledged home owner, and know my home is my own.

Perhaps, you too, can benefit by converting your land contract. Besides acquiring title in your own name, an Escanaba National Bank Mortgage Loan protects your equity. Also, the cost is no more . . . frequently less than that of a land contract.

Come in and let us explain about converting your land contract into a Bank Mortgage Loan. We'll be glad to give you you all the facts and details.

TOOK 3 NIGHTS TO SEE A SHOW

Jap Raids Were Nuisance To Movie Going Marine

One has to be persistent in Okinawa if he wishes to see a movie performance clear through. At least such is the impression conveyed by Pfc. Louis (Red) Rogers, with the Third Marine Amphibious Corps, now stationed at Naha. "I went to a show three nights in a row and finally saw the whole picture," he says. Then he explains, "For three nights the Japs came over and interrupted the show."

He states in a letter home that his outfit eats in the field each day and are fed "ten-in-one rations"—which he explains means three meals for ten men. The menu, he says, is rotated, but it gets very monotonous. Most of the buildings in Naha are shot to pieces, he states. "I am sitting beside a concrete wall that has at least five or six holes in it that are large enough for a man to walk through. You will never know how lucky you people are that this war was fought here instead of the good old U. S. A."

Okinawa is a place of climatic extremes. It is either too dry or too wet and at the time he wrote the letter, Red says that it was dry and the mud of a few days ago is now clouds of choking dust.

"I did a big washing today," he writes, "and used Jap soap. It isn't as good as American, but it did the trick." He explains that they patched their clothes with a captured Japanese-made Singer sewing machine and listened to Japanese phonograph music. "It sounds funny," he says.

He states that he is forwarding a number of souvenirs. They are not very plentiful because in order to get them, one has to dig around in caves and that isn't safe.

Private Rogers has been in the thick of some of the hardest land fighting in the South Pacific, participating in the invasions of Bouganville, the Gilbert Islands, Guam and Okinawa.

Three-quarters of a million servicemen's wives and infants received care under the emergency maternity and infant-care program during the first two years of its operation.

Detroit Woman Is Beating Shortage Of Gas On Bicycle

Pedaling a bicycle and seeing Michigan the leisurely way was the touring method employed by Mrs. Olga Sawyer, of Detroit, who passed through Manistique late Sunday afternoon on her way from Detroit to Houghton, where she will visit relatives.

"It's the only way to see the country," she said, as she paused to inquire her way to Thompson where she intended to spend the night. "The roads are good, the people are courteous and this certainly is God's country."

She stated that she had started out from her home Sunday afternoon a week ago, and had pedaled all the way. When told that that was pretty good going, she said "Oh, I would have done better than that only I saw two bear along the road and that kind of scared me about riding at night or getting started too early in the morning." That was near Cheboygan where she saw the bear and she added, "But the only wild thing I saw up in this country which is supposed to be full of wild life, was a rabbit."

Mrs. Sawyer says that she intends to return this way in about two weeks and take the ferry to Frankfort and return home by a different route.

ALLEGED CHECK ARTISTS NABBED

St. Paul Police Hold Two Man Wanted For Frauds In Manistique

Two men wanted by authorities in Schoolcraft, Mackinac and Delta counties for passing bad checks are now in custody at St. Paul, it was learned Monday afternoon by Manistique officers. The men, known as Peter Sindo and Mack Buchanan, worked for a few days at the Frank Hartman lumber camp north of Manistique, and afterward used Hartman's signature on two checks cashed at Manistique, one for $15 and another for $26.50, according to information furnished the local police. Both checks were found to be spurious. It is reported that a man answering to the description of Sindo cashed an illegally drawn telegraph money order for $50 at St. Ignace, and that the pair also passed checks for $26.49 and $31.84 at Gladstone.

Whether or not the two will be brought back from St. Paul to answer to local charges is not known, as they may have other charges pending against them in Minnesota.

News From Men In The Service

George B. Wyma, F 1/C, son of Rev. and Mrs. B. G. Wyma, has been promoted to MOMM 3/C. He is stationed somewhere in the South Pacific.

In the United States dog grease was once considered a cure for tuberculosis; deer suet for dysentery; beaver oil for paralyzed limbs and for aphasia.

In the American west there is a belief among some that if a sharp instrument is exposed about a pregnant woman, she will not suffer labor pains.

Some persons in the South place an axe under the bed of a woman in childbirth, believing it will help alleviate the pain. If no axe is available, a razor is used.

CENTER CLOSED FOR SUMMER

"Teen - Canteen" Will Reopen About October 1

Announcement is made this week that Manistique's youth center, known among the city's young people as the "Teen-Canteen," has been closed for the summer and will resume operations next October. As a substitute for the social activity there, a series of dances, sponsored by the Youth Council, will be held at the old gymnasium.

Dr. N. L. Lindquist, head of the Youth Council, expresses thanks to the various organizations who furnished chaperones and to the chaperones themselves for their cooperation in this new civic venture. He says, "The citizens of Manistique have provided their youth with one of the finest recreation centers in the state of Michigan and they can be justly proud of their progressiveness. There have been many favorable comments by out of town visitors concerning our well equipped youth center."

Dr. Lindquist states that the scope of activities at the center will be increased during the coming year and a more comprehensive schedule of competitive games is planned. As materials become available, various hobbies, such as photography, will be introduced.

The chaperone system, carried on since the center was organized, has proven to be very satisfactory and the Youth Council is asking the continued cooperation of all the organizations who assisted.

MUELLER PLANS NEW SCHOOL

Four-Room Building To Be Erected As Post War Project

Plans for a new school building in Mueller township have been approved by the township board of education and are now waiting favorable action by the state department of education and the state planning commission, as result of action taken by the board at a recent meeting.

The building, which will be 62 by 98 feet in size, will be strictly modern and of latest approved design, with emphasis placed on such features as thermostatically controlled heat and atmosphere control.

Present plans, if approved, call for a four room building, divided through the center by a full length corridor. Two rooms on the east side of the building will be separated by folding doors, permitting the rooms to be used for auditorium purposes when needed. Rooms will also be provided for the teaching of home economics and manual training.

Plans also provide for a paved court in back of the building with a driveway, a school playground and a garage for the school bus. The present Green school is the site selected for the new building.

The new building is planned as a postwar project.

Pipelines Crossed English Channel

Washington— Two submarine pipelines were laid across the English Channel after the Normandy landings to carry gasoline to the Allied forces in France, it is now revealed by the War Department. One was a cable-type pipe made in America, the other was welded steel pipe made wholly in England.

The cable pipeline produced in the United States is of similar construction to the protective cover that houses the famous Trans-Atlantic cable. It is composed of a hollow lead pipe without a core, heavily reinforced with wire and provided with a special waterproof coating. It was laid from the holds of cable-laying ships.

Four American manufacturers produced 140 miles of this cable-type piping for Army Engineers, and did so under highly secret conditions.

Before the organization of vast transportation networks and facilities only monopoly goods and valuable products could profitably bear the expense of world trade.

Irene Larson Now First Lieutenant

Fifth Air Force Troop Carrier Command, Philippine Islands.—Irene J. Larson, daughter of Mrs. Jennie Larson, 906 Montana avenue, Gladstone, Mich., was recently promoted to first lieutenant.

Entering the service in July of 1943, Lt. Larson has flown 400 hours as a flight nurse in the Pioneer Medical Air Evacuation Unit of Major General Ennis C. Whitehead's 5th Air Force.

Flying in the big transport planes of Brigadier General Paul R. Prentiss' Troop Carrier Wing, nurses and enlisted medical technicians of Lt. Larson's Air Evacuation Unit have given nursing care in flight to 75,000 casualties. A few hours by plane and front line casualties find themselves in big general hospitals where expert treatment rapidly returns them to duty or useful civilian life.

A graduate of the Gladstone high school, Lt. Larson received her nursing training at the Walter Reid Memorial School of Nursing in Chicago. Prior to her entry into the service, she was on the nursing staff of the Grace hospital in Detroit.

Day Camp Quota Is Filled For Week

The first week's day camp to be conducted here for Girl Scouts is completely filled and no more registrations can be made, it was learned yesterday.

However, a few more children can be accommodated for the second week which starts on July 23 and these may be made up until Friday, July 13. This deadline will be enforced as it is necessary to know the number to attend in order to properly organize the staff to care for them.

LOCALS CLINCH 1ST HALF TITLE

Escanaba Defeats Gladstone, 11-0, In League Game

Playing sparkling baseball, the Escanaba Teensters clinched the first half championship in the Teen league Sunday by defeating Gladstone, 11 to 0, at the Escanaba diamond.

Gladstone made its greatest threat in the first inning, loading the bases before anyone was retired. A force play at home, followed by a double play ended the threat.

In a big third inning uprising, the Escanaba team scored six runs on seven hits, which coupled with three runs in the first inning, put the game solidly on ice for the local team, still undefeated.

Scott pitched well for the Escanaba team, but was accorded almost perfect support. Lough at third base particularly was sparkling defensively.

Hunting And Fishing

SOME DEER ACT FOOLISH

(For Children Only)

All of you children know better than to cross a road, and road or street, without looking both ways to see if a car, or anything else, is coming towards you. While you all know better, the young deer, and the older deer who should know better, are often run over by automobiles.

When a fawn is born, the mother deer, which we call a doe, keeps the fawn with her all spring, summer, fall and winter. When spring comes again the fawn is one year old and we then call it a yearling doe if it is a female, or a yearling buck if it is a male deer.

All during the year that the fawn is with its mother, it teaches it to lie down and not move or to be as quiet as a mouse when going through the woods or over the plains. The doe also shows the fawn everything that is good to eat which grows on the ground or in the waters.

Before I tell you what happened to a foolish yearling last week, I must explain how even the old bucks and does often get struck by a car at night. The bright lights of a car blind them. If they would only turn their eyes away from the long bright rays of our lights and not run like they do, they would be safe and not smash into hoods and fenders.

* * *

When I see a deer coming towards me, running right towards the lights when I am driving in the country, I try to bring the car to a stop and turn off the lights. Then the deer see the car and avoid it just as they do trees and stumps in the woods.

* * *

But last week, right in broad daylight, Carl and Alan and I were riding through the woods. I was driving along where there was a five-foot fence of about a six-inch mesh on one side and a clump of pine on the other side of the road. I saw a yearling running along the side of the car in the woods.

I slowed down to about five miles an hour for I could see that she was angling, bound to cross right in front of me. She leaped right across the road and smashed smack into the wire fence. This threw her right back in the road right in front of my car. I stopped instantly.

She was stunned for a moment and Carl from Chicago, said, "Did you hit her?" Then he looked over the hood and saw legs, head and body moving like a whirlwind on the road. Finally she rose to her feet in one fast motion, turned and bounded over that fence like a bird, and was gone.

* * *

Now isn't it foolish for a deer to act so silly? Even the smallest child knows better than to try and run across a road or street ahead of a car. That is why we must always keep thinking when we cross a road and never make the mistakes that deer make.

AND NOW THE BLACK BASS

In all the union there are no three such grand states lying together than those of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota for the fisherman. Through the winter months we fish through the ice, catching good fish which range from our great lake trout to small perch.

How much nature has to offer fishermen! We look forward to the opening of the walleyed season, the white bass run and the northern pike and muskies. The trout fishermen eagerly await the opening days for brook, brown and rainbow trout.

Then, in late June, we have the opportunity to begin fishing that great little fighter, the black bass. Where in these United States or for that matter, where in all the world does the fisherman have such a grand array of fish to choose from in fresh water?

* * *

And where can he have so much fun, whether he is a cane pole and bait fisherman, a fisher with the short rod, the casting rod, or a devotee of the fly rod and light lures? Our boys and girls from 5 to 85 years of age enjoy and appreciate these opportunities.

* * *

The last to fish for, the black bass, is one of the sportiest of our fish, yet how few of our residents or tourists recognize this fact? Many of our bass streams offer the fisherman the greatest of thrills and yet they are hardly worked at all with fly or plug for the small mouth bass.

Hundreds of our small lakes are full of large mouth bass yet few are tried out by the fisherman although many are right alongside of the tote road in the woods. Other hundreds lie alongside of the federal, state and county highways but are passed up in our hurry to get to the big lakes which are harder to learn and harder to fish.

* * *

While some of the bass are not quite through spawning when our season opens in the north, by July 4 almost every nest is empty. The male bass have raised their fry, brought up their families and are now fair game for they have renewed their species.

* * *

I am sure that those of you who live on, or frequent, the waters of these three states will get a thrill out of fishing for black bass if you haven't devoted any time to fishing them before this. It may be that you are not familiar with the methods of fishing them.

In following articles we will discuss the various ways of black bass fishing. We shall try to show how easily the beginner can take up this angle of angling with bait, plug or fly and become fairly good at it with either the large mouth or the small mouth bass.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The Escanaba Softball association has forwarded sanction fees to the Michigan Softball association for 10 Escanaba teams, qualifying this number of local clubs for the upper peninsula tournament at Menominee. It is unlikely that all 10 sanctioned teams will enter the Menominee tournament but all are eligible to do so if they desire. The best guess at present is that about half of the teams will play in the peninsula competition. Team rosters have also been submitted, in accordance with the rules.

* * *

Technically, entries in the tournament are required to submit their sanction fees and team rosters by July 1. The local teams have met that requirement, but it is doubtful that many other teams in the peninsula have done likewise. The Michigan Softball association is a loosely knit organization, insofar as it handles its affairs in the upper peninsula. It collects bounty on the upper peninsula softball teams, but offers very little service in return. In fact, its activities in the upper peninsula to date border dangerously close to a downright racket.

* * *

Some of the fault, of course, lies with the softball leaders in the upper peninsula. Efforts to establish sub-commissioners in each softball center have failed in past years, with the result that the commissioner for the upper peninsula has received virtually no assistance in handling the affairs of his office. The commissioner himself, in fact, is not selected by the softball team managers in the peninsula, but is appointed directly by the state commissioner.

* * *

The time must necessarily come when consideration must be given for the establishment of a well-knit, truly democratic softball organization in the upper peninsula. Only through this means can softball be given its maximum promotion along sound lines. Such an organization need not divorce itself from the Michigan Softball association, if that alliance is desired. It would, however, provide means by which the softball teams in the peninsula would develop the controlling voice in their own affairs, something they do not have under the present system.

* * *

Softball development will be tremendous in the postwar period. The game has carved a definite spot for itself in public interest. It has survived its wartime problems. Softball is one of the most important features of every community recreation program. To maintain its progress and promote its best interests, softball in the upper peninsula needs a strong organization. It is not getting that from the Michigan Softball association, which has contended itself with skimming the cream by collecting sanctioning fees without offering any services in return.

State League Star Is Killed In Action

Flint, Mich., July 9. (AP)—Second Lt. Franklin C. Schulz, 23, who ranked right behind Steve Gromek and Frank (Stub) Overmire as the third best pitched in the 1941 Michigan state league averages, was killed in action June 17 on Samar his wife has been informed.

Schulz, a right-hander, won 17 and lost 4 for the championship Flint team in 1941 and finished third in percentages. He had a 14-12 mark for Wilkes-Barre in the Eastern league in 1942 and then enlisted in the Army Air Force and became a B-24 pilot. His wife and 16-month-old son, Franklin Jr., survive.

A Clarkson, Neb., boy, Schulz sold his saxophone to pay his way to the Flint training camp for his tryout in organized ball in 1940.

OSLO VICTOR IN CRUISING RACE

Bonny Second In Annual Garden Bay Event; Lucille Third

Oslo, owned and skippered by John Mitchell, captured the Garden Bay race which started at 2:15 p. m. Saturday afternoon off the Escanaba yacht harbor and finished at Fayette that evening. Bonny, sailed by Francis Boyce was second, Bill Bissell's Lucille third, and Ed Erickson's Yankee fourth.

C. W. Stoll's Rose of Sharon was the only boat entered in her class but sailed along unofficially with the other boats.

The course of the race was from the yacht harbor entrance around a buoy off Peninsula Point to the finish line at Fayette. In previous years the race was always sailed to Garden Bay which is ten miles further up the bay, but because of a better and safer harbor at Fayette it was agreed to end the race there.

The race started in a heavy southwest wind which 15 minutes later forced the boats to drop their sails because of a squall which came down. In the calm following the squall Bissell, who was delayed and did not start until 40 minutes after the gun, came out and sailed right up to the rest of the fleet. From then on the wind was from all around the compass, some boats rail down while others were becalmed. Crossing Big Bay de Noc the fleet stretched out with at least 7 miles between the first and last boats. Nearing the other side Yankee, leading, ran into a calm about one mile from the finish. Lucille, about 7 miles behind came running down with a fresh west wind which picked up Oslo and Bonny so that all three ran down to Yankee who didn't get the breeze until all boats were next to each other so that they all crossed the finish line together.

Crews on the boats were Rose Of Sharon, O. V. Thatcher, Dr. Roy Banks, Art Aronson, Pat Gasman, John Jacobs; Oslo, Bud Schmit and Ken Mallman; Yankee, Mrs. Erickson, Ed. Jr., Eula and Freddie Erickson and Juanita Creedle; Bonny, David Walch and Stuart Fry; Lucille, Dick and Charlie Hoyler.

SPARTAN COACH STARTS DRILLS

East Lansing, July 9 (AP)—There were seven first stringers among the approximately 70 men who turned out for the first summer practice session at Michigan State college today.

Coach Charlie Bachman said he was enthusiastic over the appearance of the candidates and eager to get them into condition "as soon as possible to see how things shape up."

State's chances this season were increased, he declared, with the unexpected appearance of Dick Massuch of Lansing, recently discharged from the Navy.

Massuch played right tackle and did much of the Spartan conversion kicking last season.

The men were put through light running drills and did some passing and kicking. There was an encouraging number out for line positions, Bachman said, but candidates for end positions were lacking.

The seven regulars fill four line positions and three backfield slots. Fullback Jack Breslin of Battle Creek and Center Brady Sullivan of Steubenville, Ohio, virtually are assured of their positions, Backman said. Both are seniors.

Quarterback Bill Siler of Dundee, right halfback Fred Aronson of Chicago, right guard Don Arnson of Muskegon and left guard Bob Godfrey of Mt. Clemens were the other regulars.

Homer Helps Yanks Take Giants, 7 to 1

New York, July 9. (AP)—Hershel Martin's grand slam homer in a Martin's grand slam homer in the six-run third inning helped the New York Yankees to a 7-1 romp over the New York Giants tonight before 41,267 who paid $50,518.00 to see the Red Cross charity exhibition.

The Yank victory, won in a drizzling rain, tossed the big town series into a three-way tie as the Brooklyn Dodgers had beaten the Yanks but bowed to the Giants in pre-season exhibitions.

(Called end 8th, rain and wet grounds).

Score by innings:
American New York ..... 106 000 00—7 9 2
National New York ..... 000 010 00—1 10 2

Indians Blanked By Reds, 6 to 0

Cleveland, July 9. (AP)—A trio of Cincinnati Reds pitchers blanked the Cleveland Indians 6 to 0 on six hits tonight to coast to victory before 6.066 fans in Ohio's War Fund tribute to athletic servicemen.

Frank Dasso, who limited the Tribe to four bingles in four innings, was credited with the win. Howard Fox yielded two hits in as many innings but Vernon Kennedy, former Tribesman, was the individual star as he held his former team mates hitless in three frames, facing but nine opponents.

If you are planning to store things at home make sure they are clean.

Major Loop Attendance Near Pre-War Standard

BY JACK HAND

New York, July 9 (AP)—Now that Brooklyn fans again are knocking down the fences trying to get into Ebbets Field, major league attendance figures are soaring toward pre-war standards with 5,074,775 customers paying their way into the 16 parks in the first half of the 1945 season.

As the majors went into a three-day "vacation", normally reserved for the all-star game but now used for charity tilts, the Dodgers home total of 715,465 was much the best.

Hank Greenberg already has repaid Detroit for the $55,000 salary he draws with the Tigers showing the pace in the American league.

Attendance of about 577,238 of which 270,182 was rung up during the latest Briggs stadium stand.

Despite the Bengals' spurt at the gate, the New York Giants are second in the majors with 589,328, most of which was amassed in the early season days when Mel Ott's gang was in first place.

The approximate home paid attendance of the majors for the first half season was:

National League
Brooklyn	715,564
New York	589,328
Chicago	297,485
Pittsburgh	289,731
Boston	259,704
Philadelphia	186,208
St. Louis	148,725
Cincinnati	143,258
American League
Detroit	577,238
New York	363,975
Chicago	312,827
St. Louis	267,948
Washington	235,712
Cleveland	229,896

SHUTE BOUNCES BACK INTO LEAD

BY HAROLD HARRISON

Dayton, O., July 9 (AP)—H. Densmore Shute of Akron, O.—known these days as just plain Denny Shute—bounced back today from a series of disappointing 1945 tournament appearances to blast out a five-under-par and take a one-stroke lead at the end of the first 18 holes of the qualifying round of the National Professional golf tournament.

Shute, among those caught in a brief but severe rain storm, was one of 15 players who bettered the Moraine Country club's par 72 figures as 143 of the nation's top-ranking pros opened the fight for the right to enter the 32-man match play competition which begins Wednesday.

But of equal importance was the fact that Byron Nelson, the Toledo, O., umbrella man who was a top-heavy favorite to take the title, was laid up tonight with in injured back.

Shute's round—32 strokes on the front nine and 35 coming home—was just one blow better than 68's reported by Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Dayton, John Revolta of Evanston, Ill., Sgt. Jim Turnesa of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and the veteran Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y.

Bracketed at 69 each were Verl Stinchcomb of Portsmouth, O., and Hank Schneider of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Four of golf's biggest names—Nelson; Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Philadelphia; Sam Byrd of Redford, Mich., and Jimmy Hines of Chicago—shaved two strokes off par to finish with 70 each. With more than 40 players shooting 74 or better today it appeared as if the boys who finish the 36 holes of qualifying play with more than 146 strokes would be out of luck—and out of the tournament.

The final 18 holes of stroke play competition will be held tomorrow with the 31 low scorers joining Hamilton in the match play battles for the title.

Qualifying scores for Michigan entrants include: Sam Byrd, Redford, 36-34—70; Claude Harmon, Groose Pointe, 36-37—73; Al Watrous, 38-38—76; Tommy Shannon, Orchard Lake, 41-42—83; Jack Winney, Redford, 40-39—78; Joseph Belfore, Grosse Pointe Farms, (withdrew).

WINS DOUBLE-HEADER

Dagenais Grocery swept both ends of a double-header Sunday afternoon at No. 2 diamond when they defeated the Buckeye Owls, 12 to 0 and 2 to 0.

After a dull opener, the Owls tightened up and held the Grocers to single runs in the third and fifth innings of the second game. Lake was on the hill for the Buckeyes and he held the Grocers to three hits, allowing singles to Ethier, Bertrand and Menard. Gangstad and Weber got three hits apiece for the winners in the opener.

First Game:

Owls ..... 000 000 0—0 6 1
Winchester and Nelson; Lake and Blair.

TAKE TENTH GAME

Dagenais Grocery won their tenth league game of the year last night at No. 4 diamond as they trounced Peoples Hotel, 12 to 2. The game was close until the fourth inning when the Grocers scored five runs on six hits and two errors.

Derouin pitched a good game for the losers but was the victim of costly miscues on the part of his teammates. Peoples played short-handed and some Dagenais hits would have been outs if they had a complete a complete roster.

Morin got three for four to lead the hit parade for the winners while Nelson collected two hits for the losers.

Wailing Women Worst Part Of Pennant Loss

BY AL VERMEER
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York—The passing of time heals all wounds and Steve O'Neill manager of the Detroits, now feels free to discuss that heart-tearing episode which befell him last autumn when his Tigers lost the American League pennant to St. Louis on the final day of the season.

"After we lost to Washington and heard the Browns had won their fourth straight from New York to clinch the title, I congratulated myself on taking it so well," recalls Steve. "But I did not reckon on things to follow.

"A few of my players asked me to come down and join them in a little farewell toast. They were holding up well, too, satisfied that they at least had not beaten themselves. We won 11 of our last 15 games, but the Browns had simply done better, winning 11 out of 13.

"I told the fellows, 'No, thanks —I am going to stay here and thank the folks who phone to tell me how sorry they feel for us.' And that is where I made my mistake."

Soon a call came from Cleveland. It was Mrs. O'Neill, who had stayed there rather than come along to Detroit where she feared she might be a Jonah to the club. Mrs. O'Neill is not superstitious says Steve, but sees no sense in courting disaster.

"Well, sir, she was bawling her heart out over that phone," recounts the Detroit pilot. "She kept saying, 'Oh, Steve, I feel so awful shame—it's a pity.' And then there would be a new flood of tears.

Deluge of Tears

"I told her she mustn't behave so. That we took a beating and should accept it gracefully. But she wouldn't let me get a word in edgewise.

" 'Oh, Steve,' she said, 'I feel so sorry for poor Mr. Trout and poor Mr. Newhouser. They worked so awfully hard.'

"Finally I told her she'd better go to bed and get some sleep. I was beginning to feel a little miserable. But no sooner had she hung up when my daughter called, and it started all over again.

"Well, sir, I have four daughters and have always considered myself deeply blessed. But not on that night. Each one called in turn and each poured her tears into that telephone. Hearing those women cry was too much for me, and when the last one hung up I was mopping a few tears myself. I am telling you—that was an ordeal."

In looking back, O'Neill admits you had to admire Luke Sewell and his Browns. The heat on them was terrific for they were playing night games and every evening, having heard the Detroit had won, they knew they also had to win to stay in the fight. And win they did.

Thinks Tigers Better

Yet O'Neill believes the Tigers were really a better ball club and would have fared with more success in the World Series, which the Cardinals won, four games out of five.

"With time out for traveling I could have used Trout and Newhouser twice apiece and I doubt if the Cards would have roughhoused those fellows. They were not so tired as most folks supposed. Trout told me he felt better during the final two weeks than at any time earlier in the season. He even volunteered to pitch with one day of rest.

"But there is no sense talking about that now," concluded Steve O'Neill. "I am glad we took our licking in stride, although I hope never to lose another pennant by so slim a margin. It is a little rough on the nerves—especially when you've got five women in the house and have to listen to them bawling over the telephone."

CHICAGO PRICES

CHICAGO BUTTER

Chicago, July 9 (AP)—(WFA)—The butter market was firm today and unchanged at OPA ceilings.

CHICAGO EGGS

Chicago, July 9 (AP)—(WFA)—Eggs were firm; large No. 1 and No. 2 extras, 40.2 to 40.5; no other sales.

CHICAGO POTATOES

Chicago, July 9 (AP)—(WFA)—Potatoes, arrivals 159, on track 189, total U. S. shipments, Saturday 337, Sunday 22.

New stock: Offerings light, demand good, market steady at ceiling for best stocks; California 100-lb. sacks of long whites, U. S. No. 1, 4.07 to 4.29; commercial, 3.89 to 4.19; Missouri cobblers, U. S. No. 1, 3.36 to 3.58.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, July 9 (AP)—Most grain futures were firm today although hedge selling pushed wheat downward near the close. December and may wheat closed fractionally higher, but July and September contracts were off slightly.

Some rye futures made fractional comebacks from last week's heavy losses, but the July contract, restricted to closing out operations, fluctuated over a 6½ cent range and closed 1 5-8 to 1 7-8 cents a bushel lower.

Oats were independently strong and corn and barley were firm most of the time.

Wheat closed 5-8 lower to 3-8 higher than the previous finish, July $1.65 3-8. Corn was unchanged to ¼ up, July $1.18½. Oats were ½ to 3-4 higher, July 66½. Rye was down 1 7-8 to up 5-8, July $1.44¼ to $1.44. Barley was unchanged to ½ higher, July $1.15.

PRICES PROPPED BY 'BLUE CHIPS'

BY VICTOR EUBANK

New York, July 9 (AP)—Investment demand for "blue chips" with actual or potential yields put specialized props under today's stock market.

American Telephone was favored from the start on the idea it was "behind" the market when the $9 dividend was taken into consideration. This issue finished up six full points at 183¼, highest figure since 1937. A. T. & T. bonds also were strong.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .7 of a point at 66.6, widest swing since May 28. Of 869 issues appearing, 503 advanced, 190 declined and 176 were unchanged.

Prominent on the upside were Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Chesapeake & Ohio, International Telephone, American Water Works, Phillip Morris, Boeing, Sperry, Anaconda, American Can and Eastman Kodak. Losers included Kennecott, North American, Union Carbide, U. S. Gypsum, Douglas Aircraft, Johns-Manville and Goodrich.

Individual bulges characterized the bond division. At Chicago wheat was off 5-8 to up 3-8 of a cent a bushel and rye up 5-8 to down 1 7-8. Cotton was 20 to 35 cents a bale higher.

Among curb gainers were Colonial Airlines, Creole Petroleum, Aluminum of America and Hecla Mining. Turnover here was 330,000 shares, the same as in the preceding five-hour stretch.

BONDS STEADY

New York, July 9 (AP)—A 6 point rise in the 3 per cent bonds of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. featured a slow moving but relatively steady market today.

The unusual advance in the Telephone company issue carried it to 142½, a new high, and coincided with a similar gain in the company's capital stock, into which the bonds are convertible under specified conditions. Total sales in the bond reached $105,000.

The general market was a draggy affair all day, although at the end there were numerous gains of a point or so, especially in the rail division. It was one of the slowest sessions of the year with turnover in all bonds aggregating but $4,590,000 against $5,230,000 last Friday.

Among the better performers were Bangor & Aroostook 4s, Chicago & Alton 3s, St. Paul Adjustment 5s, Rock Island 4s and 4½s, Rio Grande Western 4s, International Hydro Electric 6s, Lehigh Valley 4½s, Katy first 4s, Missouri Pacific 5s, Morris & Essex 5s, New Haven 4s and collatteral 6s, Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6s and Western Pacific 4½s. Occasional losers included Phillips Petroleum 2 3-4s, Colorado & Southern 4½s and New Orleans, Texas & Mexico 4½s and 5s. U. S. governments were steady along with most foreign loans.

TRADING TRENDS

New York, July 9 (AP)—
Stocks: Steady; Telephone leads selective advance.
Bonds: Steady; American Telephone 3's strong.
Cotton: Higher; trade and outside buying.
Chicago:
Wheat: 5-8 lower to 3-8 higher; hedging pressure offset early buying.
Corn: Unchanged to ¼ up; unfavorable weather.
Rye: 1 7-8 down to ¼ up; small sales affected prices greatly.
Hogs: Active and fully steady. Top $14.75.
Cattle: Generally steady. Top $18 ceiling.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

New York, July 9 (AP)—Closing foreign exchange rates follow (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents):
Canadian dollar in New York open market 9 3-16 per cent discount, or 90.81¼ U. S. cents, unchanged.
Europe: Great Britain official 4.03, unchanged.
Latin America: Argentina free 24.93, up .01 of a cent; Brazil free 5.25n; Mexico 20.65n.
n—Nominal.

CARD OF THANKS

It is with a feeling of sincere gratitude that we take this means of expressing our deep appreciation and thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kindnesses shown us in our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved father, Henry A. Martin. We are very grateful to Rev. E. R. Pokrant for his consoling words and other manifestations of sympathy, to those who sent floral bouquets, to those who served as pallbearers, to those who donated the use of their cars and to all others who aided us in so many ways. The memory of these acts of kindness will always remain with us.

KIWANIS HEARS JOHN ANGUILM

Conservation Policies Are Explained By Supervisor

Trends in Michigan Conservation department policies were outlined in an interesting talk by John Anguilm, new district supervisor here, at the meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday.

Explaining the reorganization of the administrative division of the department, Anguilm said the 17 districts in Michigan had been reduced to 12, and the seven in the Upper Peninsula to only four, with headquarters at Escanaba, Newberry, Baraga and Crystal Falls.

Time-honored ideas in conservation have been blasted as the result of experience and the research work done by competent scientists, Officer Anguilm said. He cited the 1919 experiment in the propagation of 9,000 pheasants which proved too costly, and the great loss of money and effort over a period of years in the planting of fish fry. In recent years, he said, it has been found that it is more economical to rear fish in hatcheries and rearing ponds to legal size.

But even present fish planting ideas may go into the discard as a result of experiments conducted by the Fish and Wildlife Service at lakes in the Norris Dam region, Mr. Anguilm continued. Studies made there indicate waters once stocked with fish can withstand unlimited fishing pressure, and that closed seasons are unnecessary and probably harmful. The speaker pointed out the 1945 Michigan legislature enacted legislation to keep all lakes, except trout lakes, open the year round for certain species of fish. Mr. Anguilm envisaged the new legislation as a move toward extending the tourist season by permitting fishing several weeks beyond Labor day.

The Michigan conservation department will extend its program of acquiring access lands to fishing waters in the postwar era, Mr. Anguilm said. Another plan is to acquire more land on islands in the Great Lakes, which can be used by the public with the revival of pleasure craft travel. He said 40,000 of the 83,000 acres on Drummond island and 60 per cent of Summer island is now under state ownership. Establishment of more organization camps, such as the one maintained by the Forest Service at Clear lake, is also contemplated.

U. P. Press Will Meet In Houghton

Industrialization of forest products, a postwar objective for the Upper Peninsula, will be the theme of the 1945 Upper Peninsula newspaper conference at Houghton Friday and Saturday, Aug. 10-11.

Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton, will be host to publishers and their guests at a luncheon at noon Friday at the Denton house and at a whitefish dinner at the Onigaming Yacht club at 6:30. Dr. Grover C. Dillman, president of the college, will preside, with Dr. Lysle Rose serving as toastmaster.

The afternoon session will be devoted to reports on forest product research and its possible benefit to the Upper Peninsula. Dr. Dillman is chairman of a special committee created by the state planning commission to study this subject.

The Houghton Mining Gazette, of which John W. Rice is publisher, will be host to publishers at a 12:30 luncheon Saturday at the Miscowaubik club at Calumet. Dr. Dillman is offering guest tickets to all newspapermen attending the conference to the Portage Lake Golf club, a nine-hole course acquired by the college this spring.

Developed a decade ago for use in exploring the bayous and swamps of southern Louisiana, marsh buggies have now been improved to such a degree that they can float, cross deserts, and traverse swamps which no other vehicle could attempt to enter.

Rust, most dreaded enemy of the wheat farmer, is on the rampage again, with indications that 1945 may rank as one of great rust epidemics, such as destroy 100,000,000 or more bushels of bread grain.

Bradley Will Troll For Lake Trout This Summer

REP. FRED BRADLEY

Rep. Fred Bradley of Rogers City, for years known as "the flying congressman" of the Eleventh Michigan district, is going into the lake trout trolling business this summer.

Advised by his physician to live in the outdoors as much as possible, Rep. Bradley, a member of the house committee on marine and fisheries, recently purchased a Matthews "38" cruiser and a commercial fishing license to operate out of Munising on Lake Superior. He has engaged the services of Roy Cargill, Munising commercial fisherman, as engineer on the boat.

The cruiser is 38 feet long and is powered with two 140 h. p. Chrysler motors. It will travel about twenty miles per hour.

Rep. Bradley and Mr. Cargill spent Sunday and Monday in Sault Ste. Marie while enroute to the Lake Superior fishing grounds and expect to be in Munising tonight. Mrs. Bradley will join her husband at Munising Thursday, and will reside at the Beach Inn while he is engaged in fishing. On off-days, Rep. Bradley plans to visit various Upper Peninsula communities in his district.

In a telephone conversation yesterday, Rep. Bradley informed the Press that he had been informed by the Veterans Administration that a decision as to the location of the new government hospital in the Upper Peninsula would be made within two weeks.

Mrs. Martha Aird, 82 Years Old, Dies

Mrs. Martha Eveline Aird, 82, a resident of Escanaba for almost three-quarters of a century, died at her home, 228 North Twenty-First street, 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning. She had been in ill health since April.

Mrs. Aird was born in Garden April 28, 1863 and came to Escanaba with her parents when a young girl. Her husband, Angus Aird, died in 1938.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joseph McCormick, Laurium; two brothers, George Thompson, Escanaba, and Jesse Thompson, Sturgeon Bay; and a sister, Mrs. Ellen Hogarty, Manistique; two grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

The body will lie in state at the Degnan funeral home until the funeral services, which will be held at St. Joseph's church 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, with Rev. Fr. Alphonse, O. F. M., officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

A lesson from tactical bombing is being applied in warfare against diseases of plants, as fruit growers adopt the practice of cutting the supply lines of plant disease pests by spraying the ground as well as the trees.

It is estimated that at least one-third of those who now die of cancer could be saved if they could be diagnosed and treated during the early stages of the disease.

Rockaway Was Not Lake Trout Troller

Grand Marais, Mich.— The Rockaway, commercial fishing boat, wrecked on Lake Superior a week ago, was never engaged in the lake trout trolling business, as was erroneously stated in some newspaper reports of the tragedy.

Owners of sport trolling boats fear that the resultant publicity might be harmful to their business. The Rockaway was an old, flat bottom tug, and never had been more than a mile from shore. On the other hand, sport trolling boats here are all modern, well-equipped, and have never had an accident of any kind.

Pump Bay Water As Tank Is Connected

The installation of a water connection between Escanaba's new elevated storage tank, now under construction, and a water main has required the pumping of water from the bay, City Manager A. V. Aronson said yesterday.

In making the water connection it was necessary to shut off No. 2 well, and the pumping of filtered and chlorinated bay water was started yesterday and will continue through today. About one-half the water supply will come from the bay for the two-day period. Wednesday the pumps again will supply all of the city's water.

It was the first time this year that bay water has been pumped into the city mains. Last year some water was pumped from the bay during the summer months because of the high consumption of water during a hot, dry period.
